Extradition Of Jimenez Given Okay

Suit Only Bar To Returning Former Venezuela Leader

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A paternity suit appeared today to be the only barrier holding up return of Marcos Perez Jimenez, former Venezuelan dictator, to his homeland to face trial for embezzlement.

The U.S. State Department announced Monday that Perez Jimenez, accused of embezzling more than $13 million in public funds, would be extradited. A chartered plane was sent from Caracas to take him home.

It was the first time the United States approved extradition of a former chief of government and it climaxed a legal fight lasting more than four years.

Perez Jimenez, however, remained in federal custody in the Dade County jail where he has been since Dec. 12, 1962, while his attorneys explored every legal avenue of escape.

The latest development came last Thursday when Judge Robert Anderson of Dade County Circuit Court signed an order forbidding Perez Jimenez to leave the court's jurisdiction.

Anderson also signed an order for Perez Jimenez to put up $300,000 bond pending outcome of a suit by Iona Marita Lorenz, 26, of Miami. She seeks to tie up his assets while the courts decide whether a $75,000 trust fund he allegedly established for her and her 5-year-old daughter will be recognized.

Irving Jaffe, a special attorney for the Department of Justice, arrived from Washington and told reporters he believed Anderson would waive jurisdiction and not interfere with Perez Jimenez' deportation.

He told reporters, "We hope to clear this thing up by the end of the week."

Also arriving in Miami were Counsellor Raul Nass, who came from the Venezuelan Embassy with a warrant for Perez Jimenez. With him was Howard Westwood, one of the attorneys representing the Venezuelan government.

A military uprising threw Perez Jimenez out of office in January 1958. He came to Miami from the Dominican Republic in March of that year, taking up residence with his wife and four daughters in a $400,000 mansion at Miami Beach.

His personal fortune was estimated at $700 million in a federal court suit early this year.

"During my administration my country became prosperous," Perez Jimenez said. "It is not strange that I prospered along with other people. This prosperity was not from embezzlements but from the participation in legitimate businesses."

Hideout Used In Holdup Of Train Found

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard announced today that police have found the hideout used by the gang which carried out the world's greatest mail train robbery.

The hideout is Leatherslade Farm at Oakley, 53 miles north-west of London. A truck and two army type vehicles were found there.

The police announcement said an intensive search was going on in the area but it appeared the robbers had left three days ago.

Some mail bags were found but there was no trace of the 2½ million pound ($7 million) loot taken from the Glasgow to London mail train robbery.

The brick farm house is in an isolated area. Its windows were blacked out. A large supply of food was found there.

Fingerprint experts and other police scientists were rushed to the area. The district was sealed off.

There were indications the bandit gang, believed to number 20 or 30 men, had been in the Buckinghamshire house several days and were trying to burn or bury something when they left in a hurry.

Earlier police officials hinted that a woman may have helped mastermind the robbery Thursday in which the loot was paper money.

Plan Worked Out By Treasury

House Group Slates Vote On 15% Tax Cut Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal to cut most Americans' income taxes an average of 15½ per cent approached a crucial vote today in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The plan was worked out by the Treasury to complete a tax bill the committee has been putting together for most of the year. The House is expected to take up the legislation early next month. Action may take longer in the Senate, despite President Kennedy's pleas that a tax cut be enacted this year.

One key member of the committee said a vote by the tax writing group would come soon, perhaps today. Several said they expected agreement on rates approximating those proposed by the Treasury which revised its own earlier suggestions to conform with changes the committee has made in other parts of the tax program.

As unveiled Monday before the committee by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, the revised proposals would result in a net reduction of $10.645,000,000 in individual and corporate tax rates by 1965. Kennedy's proposals in January were estimated to net a $10,320,000,000 reduction.

Thus, the administration reshaped its rate reduction proposals to come up with approximately the same net result after taking into account changes made by the committee in the President's revenue-raising proposals.

A major factor, Dillon said, was the committee's rejection of a 5 per cent floor under itemized deductions. This provision would have cut down itemized deductions—for local taxes, interest, charity and the like—by allowing only the amount in excess of 5 per cent of a taxpayer's income.

By rejecting it, the committee wiped out more than two-thirds of the $3 billion pickup in revenue the administration counted on in its original tax proposal. The committee did restore in a sense a pickup of about $500 million by disallowing certain state taxes, principally those on gasoline, cigarettes and liquor.

The pattern of economic development since the President's message in January has served to confirm the need for a net tax reduction of $10.3 billion, Dillon said.

"While progress so far this year has been somewhat better than earlier expectations, the outlook for reducing unemployment, in the absence of substantial tax reduction, has certainly not improved, he said.

The tax rates advanced by Dillon range from 14 to 70 per cent in place of the 14 to 65 spread originally proposed. Present rates run from 20 to 91 per cent.

The Treasury figured that, under its proposals, a married man with two dependents who earns $5,000 a year and claims average deductions would save $65 of his present $300-a-year tax bill. A $10,000-a-year man in the same situation would save $202 of his present $1,196 tab, a $20,000-a-year man $626 from his present $3,410 tab, and a $50,000-a-year man $2,307 from his $14,576 tax bill.

Taxpayers at the high and low ends of the scales would get the biggest proportionate saving. Present rates range from 20 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income to 91 per cent on income over $200,000.

Under the administration proposal, the bottom $2,000 bracket would be split into four $500 brackets, taxed at 14, 15, 16, and 17 per cent. The climb in rates would stop at incomes over $100,000, which would be taxed at 70 per cent.

Two-thirds of the savings for individual taxpayers, under the proposal, would go into effect Jan. 1, the rest a year later.

Financial Problem Posed

City Will Resume Pickups Of Grass, Hedge Cuttings

Acting at the request of Council in a caucus session Monday night, the incinerator department will resume collection of grass and hedge cuttings that was abandoned about three weeks ago.

But the resumption may be only temporary, depending upon Council's ultimate decision on two other questions linked to the same problem.

Drafting a new set of rules to define the incinerator department's operations, including what items of trash and garbage it will collect.

Tackling a long-range financial problem in the incinerator department which Safety Service Director Robert Owen and Supt. John Melvin said may be helped by the additional man-hours involved in resuming collection of grass and hedge trimmings.

Council met for more than an hour with Owen and Melvin to thresh over dozens of protests stirred up from householders when the collection of grass and hedge cuttings was halted as part of the semi-monthly trash pickup.

The director and the department superintendent said the two classes of trash were dropped from the schedule for economic reasons. In order to keep the department within its budget by eliminating the necessity for overtime work, it was necessary to cut back on the work load, they said.

In previous years, the incinerator department always had a financial "cushion" from which to pay for extra work, Owen said. But, lacking a "cushion" this year, the department had to trim its services to stay within the appropriation, he said.

The 1963 appropriation is approximately $92,000, compared with $101,000 in 1962, he said. In addition, payroll expenses were jumped approximately $11,000 annually by a wage increase, he added.

Council agreed with Melvin and Owen that the incinerator department needs a set of rules spelled out for its operation by legislation, including a definite list of the items that will be collected as trash and garbage.

Councilman S. James Welch said he will ask President Charles N. Edwards next Monday night to appoint a special committee to draft the legislation with Melvin's aid.

Meanwhile, councilmen agreed the incinerator department should continue collection of grass and hedge trimmings.

Councilman Kenneth C. Berg said he had 17 telephone calls yesterday alone from irate householders demanding to know why the collections were suspended.

Since Council was unable to

Man Denies Charges In Beaver Wounding

BEAVER FALLS — John Walter Hays, 36, of Beaver Falls, pleaded not guilty when arraigned Monday night before Alderman A. J. Fabio on four charges filed by police as an aftermath of gunshot wounds suffered by Cliff Robinson, also of Beaver Falls, in an incident at Robinson's home Saturday.

Hays is accused of assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, violation of the Uniform Firearms Act by carrying a concealed weapon and parole violation.

Hays is held in the Beaver Falls Jail without bond.

Robinson was in "fair" condition today at Providence Hospital with a gunshot wound of the hip.

Dead Man's Race Coupon Gives Identity

In an extraordinary bit of sleuthing, Hancock County Sheriff's deputies established a tentative identification Monday night of a patron of Waterford Park race track who died of an apparent heart attack.

The victim, identified tentatively as Elmer S. Schott of Pittsburgh, collapsed in the grandstand at 6:30 and was pronounced dead by a physician in a first-aid room.

He carried no wallet, but found in his pockets were currency, change, a press pass which bore no name or number, a small pocket penknife, and a racing form issued at the track.

Deputy John Roefaro noticed that a coupon had been cut meticulously from the racing program, apparently with the small penknife in Mr. Schott's pocket, and assumed it had been deposited in one of the containers in the grandstand for a drawing for a new automobile.

The officer searched through the coupons deposited in the container nearest where the victim was discovered — in the upstairs of the grandstand — looking for one that had been cut smoothly by a sharp knife.

A coupon found in the container, listing Mr. Schott's name and address, was discovered and it matched the square cut from the racing program.

Pittsburgh authorities were notified by deputies and the Chester Arner Home for Funerals and provided with a description of the heart attack victim. Authorities hoped to establish a positive identification today through fingerprints and pictures and were expecting a visit by the victim's relatives.

Mr. Schott was between 50 and 60. He went to the track on a roundtrip bus ticket from Pittsburgh.

Bar Against Changes To Constitution

American Bar Assn. Votes To Oppose Three Amendments

CHICAGO (AP)—Three proposals to change the U.S. Constitution and curtail the powers of the federal government have been opposed by the American Bar Association.

Earlier this year, Chief Justice Earl Warren took the nation's lawyers to task for silence about the amendments, calling it "almost an abdication of its (the bar's) responsibility to the public."

Without any dissent, the ABA House of Delegates Monday went on record as opposing two of the amendments. The House of Delegates, the ABA's policy-making group, has 258 members.

One amendment would make it possible for states to propose and ratify constitutional amendments on their own, without approval of Congress or a national convention.

The second, also turned down without any opposition, would make possible overruling of decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court by a "court of the union" comprising of the chief justices of the 50 states.

A third, rejected in a 136-74 standing vote, would wipe out federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in state legislatures.

Should any of the proposed amendments receive support from 34 states, Congress would have to call a national convention to accept or reject it.

The third amendment, which brought some debate in the ABA sessions, would reverse the March 162 Baker vs. Carr decision of the Supreme Court.

In Baker vs. Carr, the court held that citizens could seek relief in federal courts when unequal representation of state legislatures violated constitutional

Royal China's Employment May Hit 500

EAST PALESTINE — Barring a sudden slump in business, the Royal China Corp. expects to have 500 employees on the payroll by late fall with gradual stepping-up of operations at the former W. S. George Pottery Co.

Business has flourished since the Sebring corporation leased the former George pottery two years ago.

In the most recent development, the firm started a second shift in the clay shop Monday night at Plant 4, adjacent to Plant 1 where 350 employees have been working on a seven-day week basis.

Expansion of operations has been a gradual process, with the work force boosted to 415 with rebuilding of Plant 4. It is expected that 500 will be employed by late fall, according to Fred C. Henderson, vice president.

Royal, which also operates a pottery in Sebring that employs 700, has almost entirely rebuilt Plant 4 with installation of a new roof and new equipment.

In operation at Plant 4 is the bisque kiln, while the glaze department is being dried out in preparation of starting, and the glazing machines and jiggers are in place and ready to start work.

About 65 per cent of the employees are local residents. Royal leased the pottery to handle its excess business. The pottery is now the largest industry in East Palestine.

The Red Wall

Symbol Of Cruelty 2 Years Old

BERLIN (AP)—The Red Wall of Berlin—symbol of man's cruelty to man, of dictatorship, of tragedy and of courage—was two years old today.

At various points along the concrete, barbed wire-topped barricade, West Berliners scheduled memorial services for the wall's victims—the dead, the imprisoned and those separated from families and friends.

West Berlin police stationed reinforcements along the wall to keep any demonstrations from turning violent. On the first anniversary last year, several thousand West Berliners attacked Soviet vehicles with rocks and bottles and unleashed tear gas battles between East German border guards and Western police.

On Sunday, Aug. 13, 1961, East Germany's Red regime sealed off West Berlin to stem the tide of refugees from communism. The day before, a new refugee was registered every 40 seconds in West Berlin. In July, a total of 30,415 had fled.

Protected by tanks and heavily armed troops, workmen began unrolling hundreds of miles of barbed wire along the border between West and East Berlin.

Thousands of angry West Berliners threatened the next day to tear the wire away with their bare hands. Communist armored cars, bayonets and water cannons kept them back.

Two days later, bricklayers went to work. The wall has since become the most formidable fortification in the heart of Europe, winding like a deadly snake for 26½ miles through the city.

It separates about 500,000 of West Berlin's 2.2 million people from relatives on the Communist side. Another 74½ miles of triple barbed wire with 111 watch towers fences off the city's outer borders from East Germany.

Since Aug. 24, 1961, when Red submachine guns mowed down Guenther Liffkin, 25, as he tried to reach West Berlin, at least 50 persons have been killed at the wall.

At least 12 have been seriously wounded by gunfire. More than 1,500 arrests have been observed. East German border guards have hurled more than 400 tear gas grenades into West Berlin. Two Communist guards were shot dead—one by a man trying to aid an escape, the other by a West Berlin policeman defending a refugee.

Despite the wall and the guns, more than 3,000 persons have escaped to West Berlin, through tunnels dug beneath the wall, in cars and trucks and even an armored car which smashed through the masonry.

Renewals For Wellsville

Board To Submit 3 Levies With 11.5 Total Millage

The Wellsville Board of Education passed two resolutions Monday night asking renewal of three existing levies totaling 11.5 mills at the Nov. 5 election.

One resolution will combine two existing levies of 2.8 mills and 2.6 mills into a tax of 5.4 mills for nine years for current operating expenses.

The board also will certify a resolution asking renewal of a 6.1 mill levy for eight years, also for operating expenses.

Renewal of the 2.8 mill levy is being sought a year ahead of time, board members explained, pointing out they eventually hope to combine the various levies in order to eliminate heavy election expenses. Costs in connection with the vote on levies run between $1,100 and $1,200 each time.

The board also authorized Raymond Rolley, clerk, to borrow up to $15,000 if the state foundation check doesn't arrive in time.

The board appointed Robert Lowther as industrial arts instructor at the high school at a salary of $4,745 to succeed David Wilson, whose resignation was accepted.

William Poynter of Lisbon Rd. was named a bus driver to take the place of David Torrence, whose resignation also was received last night. Poynter will receive $1,325.

Senate Told Of Superior Atom Force

Secretary Gives Military Backing To Limited Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States has nuclear warheads in the tens of thousands and the limited test ban treaty would help preserve a nuclear lead over Russia.

In giving his "unequivocal support" to the treaty which would ban all but underground tests, he assured the Senate the United States is determined to maintain a nuclear force that is "manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's."

"By limiting Soviet testing to the underground environment," he declared, "we can at least retard Soviet progress and prolong the duration of our technical superiority."

Thus in an opening, prepared statement for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and members of other interested committees, McNamara gave military backing to the treaty much as Secretary of State Dean Rusk supported it Monday on diplomatic grounds.

Some 12 hours before McNamara went to Capitol Hill, the Atomic Energy Commission announced the underground detonation at its Nevada test site of a nuclear device of low yield.

This was the first nuclear explosion since the United States,

10 More Due To Face City Tax Charges

D. G. Wilkinson, city income tax commissioner, said he will file affidavits today in Municipal Court accusing 10 more persons of failure to file 1963 returns on 1962 earnings or estimates of 1963 income.

After the charges are filed, the court will set appearance dates for the defendants and a summons will be served on each by Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor.

Wilkinson's action will raise to 20 the number accused of violation of the tax ordinance in the last two weeks. Charges were filed July 31 against 10 other defendants.

Of the affidavits scheduled to be filed today, nine list two violations each — failure to file an estimate on 1963 earnings and a failure to file a final report on 1962 income.

Only one of the defendants, is accused of a single violation — failure to file the final 1962 return.

Virtually all of the 10 named in Wilkinson's new affidavits reside in East End. Except for two Beechwood men, all have East End addresses.

Of the cases filed in late July, all except three or four have been disposed of. The continued cases are due before Judge Samuel Chertoff next Tuesday morning.

As distinguished from the warrants normally issued in criminal cases, the summonses merely direct the defendants to report to court at a specified time. They are not arrested when the summonses are served and are not required to post appearance bonds.

The court has followed the same procedure in other city income tax cases. Names of the defendants will be released after they have been served by the bailiff.

Board Studies Offers

9 Bids Received On Refuse Truck

The Board of Control today is studying nine offers it received Monday afternoon for a new "packer" body refuse collection truck for the incinerator department and two bids from contractors for completion of the department's new garage and maintenance building on E. 2nd St.

Six manufacturers offered to supply the body only on the chassis to be furnished by the city, while three truck agencies submitted bids to supply the chassis. Three of the bidders also offered complete demonstrator models to the city as alternate bids.

THE BOARD, comprised of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, rejected a bid from Paul M. Brown of Calcutta on the building work because the offer was not broken down to show separate costs of labor and materials for each item.

The Heil Co. of Cleveland offered a Collectomatic Mark II model with a 16 cubic yard capacity and a 1½-cubic yard hopper capacity for $4,700, including mounting. It said the body could be delivered within approximately 30 days from the date of the order, subject to delivery of the chassis at the Cleveland factory.

Another Cleveland firm, Road Machinery & Supply Co., asked $4,993, FOB East Liverpool, for a 16 cubic yard Leach Packmaster. As an alternate, it offered a demonstrator unit with a 1963 GMC chassis with a 16-cubic yard Leach Push-Out body mounted complete for $9,700.

The demonstrator unit never has been used and is located at the Leach factory in Oshkosh, Wis. The unit could be repainted for about $125, it said. Delivery could be made within four days. Ohio Pak-Mor Sales & Service of Chardon offered a 16-cubic yard H Model Pak-Mor body mounted on the city chassis and painted to the city's specifications for $4,551.88. Delivery would be made within 10 days after acceptance of the bid, the company said. The body is in stock and its components are covered by a year's warranty.

The Truck Equipment Corp. of Richmond, Va., offered an 18 cubic yard Truxmore Pakker installed on the city chassis for $4,330, FOB East Liverpool. It offered a demonstrator unit with a 1963 International Harvester chassis with V-8 engine and a 18-cubic yard Pakker painted white to match the cab for $7,830. The body only could be delivered 10 days after arrival of the chassis at the Buffalo factory. The complete unit could be delivered in five days.

Mackall Motors, Inc., offered to supply a 1963 Ford N-700 chassis with a heavy duty V-8 engine for $3,991. Delivery would be made in 55 days, it said.

The O. S. Hill & Co. bid $4,650 for an International Model 1800 equipped and painted to the city's specifications. Delivery could be made to the body manufacturer within six weeks.

Wimmer Motor Sales offered a 1964 GMC truck with a 165-horsepower V-6 engine with a cab-axle dimension of 102 inches for a net price of $4,209. The basic price would be $4,840 less $726 for no trade in for a total of $4,114 plus $95 for freight and delivery.

It offered the same chassis with a Garwood LP-616 16-cubic yard packer body for $9,987.19 delivered.

Wimmer said if the city desired a "B" type cab model with the same wheelbase but an overall cab-axle dimension of 114 inches the cost would be $376.55 additional. It also offered an 185-horsepower V-6 engine for an additional $250.

Marion Metal Products Co. of Marion offered to supply a Model 20-S Hydropaka with 20-cubic yard capacity for $3,821. The firm said the unit was demonstrated to Owen and John Melvin, incinerator superintendent, here last May 7. Delivery could be made within four weeks.

The company advised the city either a 120 or 126-inch cab-axle dimension be used rather than the 102 inches specified to provide for better weight distribution.

S. & G. Sales Co. of Weirton offered to furnish a new Model 1620 Thiele packer with 16-cubic yard capacity and a 4-cubic yard loading hopper for $3,462.50 delivered.

The body would be similar to a body the city purchased from the Weirton firm in November, 1961. Because Brown's bid did not include a breakdown of the cost of labor and materials for any items except concrete work at the new maintenance building, Goodballet and Owen agreed to seek an opinion from Cooper on its legality.

The officials recalled that state law provides the bidder must break down bids into labor and materials.

In a quick telephone conference, the solicitor ruled the bid could not be accepted.

Brown's bid totaling $3,258 was the lowest of two received. The Volino Construction Co. bid, which included a breakdown in each category, totaled $3,490.80.

Brown's breakdown included $245 for the water line, $600 for plumbing, $926 for 1,300 square feet of 6-inch concrete flooring, $198 for 480 square feet of 4-inch flooring, $310 for 8-inch block wall, $429 for 6-inch block wall, $85 for 4-inch partition wall, $340 for ceiling, and $125 for doors. The concrete cost for the 6-inch floor would be 71½ cents per square foot, including 28 cents for labor and 43¼ cents for materials. The square foot cost for the 4-inch floor would be 41¼ cents, including 18¼ cents for labor and 22½ cents for materials.

Volino's bid listed the Kinsey Plumbing and Heating as the sub-contractor.

The firm's breakdown included water line, $106 for labor, $75 for materials for a total of $181; plumbing, $480, labor, and $397 for materials with a total of $877; 6-inch floor, 14 cents for labor, 26 cents for materials, total $650.

Four-inch flooring, 12 cents for labor, 24 cents for material, $220.80; 8-inch block wall, $244 each for total of $488; 6-inch block wall, $191.50 each for a total of $383; 4-inch partition wall, $52 each for a total of $104; ceiling, $180, labor, and $195 for materials, total $375, and doors, $84, labor, and $128 for material, total $212.

Council has authorized issuance of $15,000 in notes in anticipation of a bond issue to cover the cost of the new truck and the garage improvements.

Contracts Let To 2 Printers

LISBON — County commissioners at a meeting Monday awarded contracts to two printing concerns to furnish binders, record books and other printed matter for the use of Courthouse offices.

The Lilienthal Printing Co. of Cambridge was given a contract for inventory and appraisal binders with fillers on its bid of $197.20. Other bidders were: Dayton Blank Book Co., $227; Fred Proctor Co. of Cincinnati, $280; Herr Printing Co. of Columbus, $296, and Johnson - Watson Co. of Dayton, $323.90.

The Lilienthal concern also was given a $53 contract for letter binders. Other bids were: Proctor, $56; Johnson - Watson, $58.90; Heer, $64, and Dayton Blank Book, $68.

The Proctor firm was given a contract for a marriage record book for Probate Court on a bid of $155. Other offers were: Lilienthal, $168; Heer and Johnson-Watson, $169 each, and Dayton Blank Book, $175.

Commissioners agreed to participate again in a co-operative office education program with the Leetonia school system. The Lisbon school district was included in the program previously, but decided not to participate in the new term.

Under the program, students attend classes for a half day, then work in an office in the Courthouse in the afternoon to get actual experience.

Commissioners authorized payment of $21.50 to the city of East Liverpool for 43 dogs destroyed during July. The board authorized a county tuberculosis patient to be admitted to the Ohio TB Hospital at Columbus.

Next meeting will be Thursday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The board also agreed to ask the Municipal Civil Service Commission to conduct an examination for custodians to fill the vacancy created by Salsberry's transfer.

Joseph Caporossi was appointed to direct the senior play at a salary of $100.

The board granted permission for Stephen McCollam and Lewis McCollam to attend Southern Local schools for the next two years to complete their education. They have been attending Southern Local schools in the past.

Following a lengthy discussion, the board agreed that activities held in the past at Beacom Memorial gymnasium will continue to be held on the new floor "under close scrutiny".

Board members indicated if they find some activity is damaging the floor it will be curtailed.

rights. Outcries of protest came from rural-dominated legislatures that have refused to reapportion to meet population changes.

The three amendments, at least one of which has been approved in 16 state legislatures, were proposed by the Chicago-based Council on State Governments.

Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, while criticizing the Baker vs. Carr decision, declared that all three amendments would remove representation from persons interested in central government and give too much representation to state government.

Taft, in a talk before the ABA's insurance negligence and compensation section, suggested that boundaries should be shifted as a means of strengthening the federal system and the U. S. Constitution.

Many state boundaries "lack relation to the economic and practical realities and necessities," Taft said.

He pointed to large metropolitan areas lapping over state lines with the result, he said, they experience increasing complexities and contradictions. He advocated that such unwieldy units become part of new states.

Darby formerly lived at Dayton, Ky., and more recently spent some time at Columbus and Dayton, Ohio.

No Time To Relax Vigilance

When brothers are fighting between themselves, they generally don't have time or strength to pay much attention to outsiders. But when an outsider jumps on one of the brothers, look out! The other brother generally goes to the family rescue.

So it is with nations.

Soviet Russia and Red China are a case in point. They are fighting like bitter brothers, diplomatically and ideologically.

That's fine with outsiders like the United States. But just because the Russians and Chinese are battling each other behind the scenes, Uncle Sam can't assume he's completely in the clear. The two leading Communist nations are highly unlikely to permit their rift to be permanent. Certainly neither would stand idly by, much as both might like to, and watch the other one mauled by an outsider.

THAT'S THE PRECARIOUS diplomatic situation in which the United States finds itself at present.

Russia has agreed to sign a treaty providing for a limited ban on nuclear testing. Experience has taught the U.S. that it cannot trust the promises of the Russians, no matter how well intentioned they seem.

All peace-loving people — Americans in particular — want a prohibition against the horrors of atomic weapons. Their problem: do they dare believe they can get an honest agreement from Russia?

And in the only area of testing still to be permitted under the treaty — underground blasts — Russia is believed to be lagging behind the United States. Thus, while humanity should welcome a cessation of the possible perils of radioactive fallout from the atmosphere, Russia has much to gain and little to lose by the terms of the treaty.

FOR REASONS only he himself knows for sure, Premier Khrushchev has turned on the warm friendship spigot for the West. He has turned it on alternately hot and cold over the years. No one knows what the final mixture will be.

What the United States and its Western allies must ponder is how safe is the agreed-upon nuclear test ban treaty. If it is ratified by the Senate, as it is likely to be, the U.S. must keep a constant weather eye out to see that the Russians abide by it.

MEANWHILE, Khrushchev must have something up his sleeve if the West is lulled into friendship, as he obviously aims for the moment.

His next tactic may be to try to sneak further into Central and South America via the bastion he has established in Cuba.

It may be to cement further his stranglehold on East Berlin and East Germany. It may be only to keep the West at a distance while he takes care of his fraternal fight with Red China.

Whatever his motive, good, bad or indifferent, the United States does not dare for one moment to relax its vigilance.

Estes Kefauver

Enough Americans liked Estes Kefauver's public image to put him within striking distance of a Democratic presidential nomination. He was within a coon tail of going all the way in his chosen profession of politics.

The reason he never got closer than striking distance is one of those conjectural tidbits of inside politicking that give flavor to the game. It had something to do with the resentment he caused when he was the Senate's televised investigator of crime — the greatest traveling show of the new electronic era.

His questioning of witnesses did not discriminate between those who had been helpful to the Democratic party and those who hadn't. When it was all over, the name of Estes Kefauver was known to one and all — and many Democrats were never to speak it again without an undertone of annoyance. He had hurt the cause.

Behind the public image was the real man — the Tennessee aristocrat, graduate of Yale Law School, man of taste, devoted husband and father and mid-century intellectual. The coonskin cap, the drawl and the crusader belonged to the politicians, not the man who never landed the top prize.

It is hard to realize he had passed his 60th birthday when death overtook him without warning. He was still on the sunny side of 50 when he started that famous crime probe on May 26, 1950.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Again the cause of human freedom in the world has suffered a defeat. The West German government, under pressure from the United States government, has been required, in effect, to sign a treaty that gives a form of diplomatic recognition to the puppet regime established by the Soviets in East Germany. This postpones still further the day when the people of Germany can be reunited and set up a single republic of their own.

There were other ways to prevent West Germany from ever engaging by itself in nuclear testing in the air or in outer space or under water as provided in the new treaty between the East and West signed recently in Moscow. Iron-clad pledges against testing could have been given by the West German government in a separate agreement or treaty made only with Great Britain and the United States. This would have avoided any embarrassment for the West German government, which now is placed in the humiliating position of signing a treaty with Moscow on a parity with the Soviet satellite in East Germany.

So far as the status of nuclear testing is concerned, it would not have been affected in the least if West Germany had been permitted to deal only with its partners — Great Britain and the United States, but as matters stand now, the peoples of both East and West Germany have suffered a diminution of hope for re-unification.

THE UNITED STATES, as a champion of human freedom, could have found an alternative way to accomplish its purpose — namely, to get signed a universal pledge of its own against certain kinds of nuclear testing.

As it is, an opportunity to proclaim to the world the interest of the American people in seeing their peoples of the two Germanys given a chance to exercise their right of "self-determination" was sacrificed.

These are days when much is being said about the importance of "civil rights" to human beings everywhere. The United States has given lip service to this ideal in recent years but almost every opportunity to advance such ideals internationally in a practical way has been passed up by a kind of cringing diplomacy.

For, every time it is suggested that the United States government through the Department of State should, for instance, stand up for principles of self-determination, the argument is made, at least where Russia is concerned, that the west must not do anything to displease Moscow because this "might lead to war."

The cry "do you want war?"

is used to answer every plea for the United States to demand that human rights be respected by the Communist dictatorship.

The Soviet government, moreover, has put the United States in a humiliating position in Cuba. More than 15,000 Soviet troops today have control of the Cuban government. The Cuban people have been deprived of their right of self-determination, but the only answer given hereabouts is in the form of a question: "Do you want war?"

SHOULD ENOUGH measures short of war are used by the United States government to discipline smaller nations which are too weak to strike back. Thus, the Washington government is leading the fight to shut off arms to and punish the Republic of South Africa because it maintains racial segregation.

The real purpose, of course, is to curry favor with some African nations and to win Negro votes at home. Yet no stringent measures are taken to persuade members of the United Nations to embargo arms and discontinue trade relations with the Soviets because of the physical segregation established, for instance, by the Moscow government in East Germany.

Thus, the Berlin Wall now is two years old. Twenty-eight miles of concrete, steel girders and barbed wire divide the people of the single city of Berlin into two sectors.

More than 11,000 Soviet troops guard the border. Ten thousand citizens of West Berlin who had gardens or houses in East Berlin have lost their property. Gerd Wilke, in a dispatch from Bonn, Germany, to The New York Times says:

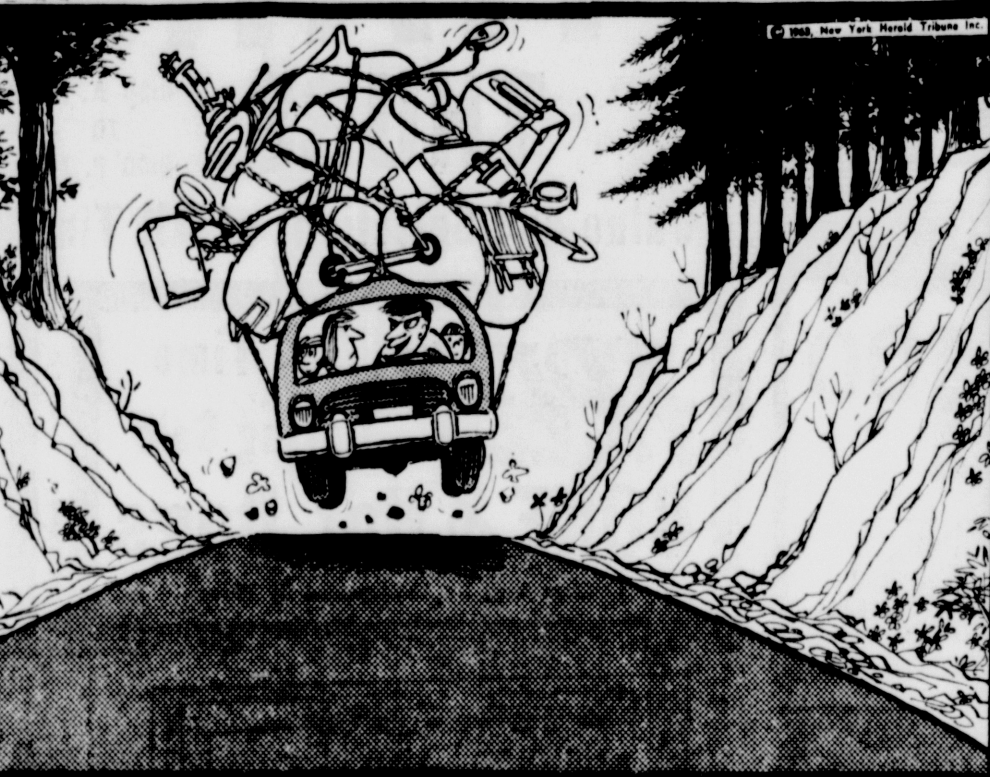

"Nobody in the West knows how many East Germans have tried to climb the concrete slabs to reach the West. But several dozen who did try have died, killed while attempting to flee over the wall or through the mine fields and barbed-wire barriers of the 830-mile border dividing Germany."

"About 16,500 men, women and children have made it, among them enough military and police guards to provide 13 companies of troops."

THIS SHOCKING situation is being ignored by the Western Allies. Instead, the secretary of state of the United States is pictured in short-sleeved shirts on the front pages of the newspapers as playing table games at a seaside resort with Premier Khrushchev.

Everything is being done through the current propaganda moves on both sides of the Iron Curtain to give the impression that the United States is willing to let bygones be bygones and that the Soviet conquest of Eastern Europe is accepted as permanent.

Today's defeatism among Western governments amounts to a virtual abandonment of the cause of human freedom in Eastern Europe and is attributable to a supine diplomacy which is really the equivalent of the policies of "peace at any price" that brought on World War II.

If We Had To Take It All With Us.'

Argentina Hits Hard At The Communists

By VICTOR RIESEL

BUENOS AIRES

There was a moment not too long ago when a fast-moving squad of Communists and hard core Peronists actually threatened to burn to death some 200 foremen and management people they had locked in the paint shop of the Industrias Kaiser Argentina auto plant up in Cordoba.

This near-massacre proves how effective even small Communist cells can be in a country where the Marxists have no influence — and such violence justifies completely the Argentine government's tough handling of the Communist party apparatus.

The story of the threatened massacre begins with the Kaiser Company decision to close the Cordoba installation for a week last January. Corporation executives began the usual discussions with the auto and transport union which has jurisdiction over the plant workers.

All was peaceful until the first shift was about to go home at 4:15 on the afternoon of Friday, Jan. 11. Suddenly the left wing Communist-hard core Peronist squads, in a swift move to take the actual negotiating authority from the regular union leaders, locked all the plant gates. No one could get out. They were prisoners.

THE MUSCLE SQUAD demanded that the company keep its plant open regardless of any managerial decision to close for just one week. The management balked, of course, at these pressure and terror tactics. The squads kept all prisoners inside overnight.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"All I hear is now the lawn, clean out the garage, wash the car! ... I'll be glad when vacation's over and I get back to my school vocational guidance counselor."

Then early Saturday morning, the muscle men selected 200 of the foremen and middle management executives. These were to be the hostages. They were pushed into the paint shop. The doors were locked.

A spokesman for the Communist-Peronist junta then gave the management an utterly serious ultimatum: The squad warned — and meant every word — it would set fire to the paint shop and incinerate all inside unless the company capitulated. With the responsibility for 200 lives, the company people did what any civilized authority would do. It conceded by agreeing to keep the plant running.

The commandos opened the gates. Negotiations continued with the regular union leadership which now had to follow through. Today all is what one might call normal up in Cordoba.

These commando tactics obviously are centrally directed. I have encountered them now in several Latin lands. But here in the Argentine, the government, which is the steadiest friend the United States has on many a continent, tolerates no nonsense from the Communist party.

ON MAY 24, and in subsequent decrees issued during the past weeks, the government outlawed the Communist party and hit hard at its camouflaged activities.

Under Decree-Law No. 4214, not only is the party illegal but also outlawed are all other associations or organizations, whatever their names, which proclaim or admit to the principles of international Communism in any of its forms.

This decree also prohibits all Communist innocent front activity, which it defines very specifically.

There is still another decree which prohibits the use or reproduction for propaganda or for ideological purposes of any sign, symbol, motto, doctrine, article or artistic work relating to Communism or the Communist party or to any Communist front organization.

On July 13, the government further spelled out the exact nature of such fronts and proscribed an additional 29. Among those banned is a small Communist union federation.

This did not at all irritate the major labor organization called the General Confederation of Labor (CGT).

THE CGT HAD been under "intervention" from the day Juan Peron fell in '55 to last January. At that time it called a national convention for Jan. 29. The majority of the CGT then — and now — were led by the "soft core Peronists."

These are the men who want to forget their past associations with the ex-dictator and build free unions.

The uproar over the threatened burning of human beings at the Cordoba Kaiser plant didn't do labor much good, especially since it came some two weeks before the national CGT congress. There were some 800 delegates to the CGT conclave — of which 26 were Communists. The latter got the deep freeze.

Thus, neither in government nor labor circles do the Communists have any influence. So they are working underground with the unrepenting surviving cadres of hard core storm trooper followers of Peron.

Their only activity now can be commando violence in cooperation with the Fascists — just as the Communists worked with the Nazis in Adolf Hitler's early days.

Disarmament No Closer

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

World disarmament won't be one step nearer when the Senate finally votes its expected approval of a limited nuclear test ban treaty.

A test ban—important as it is, perhaps, as an opening to better relations with Russia—is a minor episode compared with disarmament.

Under this treaty the United States and Russia will retain their full supply of nuclear bombs, enough to devastate the earth.

They will go on testing underground to develop more weapons. The treaty simply bans tests in the atmosphere, outer space and in the oceans.

President Kennedy and, Monday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, said this country will continue underground tests. One was fired Monday.

The present debate over the wisdom of the test treaty is an insight into the debate ahead if this country ever considers a disarmament treaty.

Disarmament seems unlikely in this generation, at least, no matter how much clamor smaller nations make about it.

The United States, despite its expressed concern over the years about disarmament, would probably be the last to agree to it. There are several reasons.

One of the most obvious is the failure of the United States and Russia this time to ban underground tests.

This country feels confident it can detect tests above ground but not under. To prevent cheating, it wants an inspection system.

That would mean putting American inspectors in Russia and Russian inspectors in American territory, or international inspectors in both.

The Russians complain inspection is spying. They wouldn't agree. Without inspectors, the United States wouldn't agree to ban underground tests.

If the United States and Russia agreed to disarmament—an even more difficult inspection problem—the Senate would hardly approve without a check.

The check would have to be constant. Then there's the problem of nuclear weapons. Disarmament without abolishing nuclear weapons wouldn't mean much.

But the United States and Russia have nuclear weapons coming out of their ears. Would the Senate ever feel sure Russia was not hiding some?

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Your failure to print my letter of a few weeks ago concerning teen-age problems confirms what others have told me, you, as part of the mass media referred to in the letter, are not interested in the real problems of our area, but only in the "paper tiger" issue of gambling. Your statements concerning the Chester council vote on Barron's intercession of that issue again showed your monomania.

I have retained copies of both the previous letter and this one which I will present to all interested persons at club meetings, discussions, etc., to show that The Review is interested in presenting only its own views, not those of others.

RAY CHILSON

Editor's Note — The letter to which Mr. Chilson refers was not published because it failed to contain a street address. A check of the city directory, the telephone company and the post office failed to disclose an address. The letter is still on file and all Mr. Chilson need do to assure its publication is to call The Review and supply his street address. We wish to emphasize once more that all letters to the editor must contain both signatures and street addresses.

Burglar Alarm On A Barn Door

It is safe to say everybody in Wall Street spent the weekend digesting the third and final installment of the 5,400-page study of the securities market by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

This has been one of the most significant projects ever undertaken by a public agency in this country. It has put a key sector of the U.S. economy on notice that certain practices should be corrected voluntarily, lest they lead to such serious abuses that they will have to be corrected by law.

It has installed a burglar alarm on a barn door, to keep a horse from being stolen. Its report has covered every part of the securities market.

An oddity of the effect the report has had is to reassure both the investing public and the insiders of the securities industry. It has turned out that apprehension about the report was worse than its actual contents. Conditions aren't as open to criticism as many had feared they would be.

Of all the things that could stand improvement, none can be called hopeless. The Securities and Exchange Commission stands ready to help the securities and exchange industry do all it needs to do to bring its practices into harmony with SEC requirements.

Boy And Queen

Turn an 8-year-old New Jersey boy loose in New York, and chances are he'll want to tour an ocean liner, take a swim, go fishing in Central Park, eat lunch, go swimming, maybe listen to a story, climb around an old fort, take a swim and hold hands with a queen.

"Hold hands with a queen! What do I want to do that for?" an 8-year-old boy from New Jersey asked.

"Take the queen's hand, and be quiet," the boy was admonished.

The queen, vivacious Gloria Myles, this year's reigning monarch over New York City's Summer Festival, smiled and took the youngster's hand.

"First time I've been snubbed by a male," she said.

Then, hand-in-hand, the tow-headed queen and the boy who doesn't have much use for girls went on a romp through Manhattan.

Their trip had a special purpose: to lay out a trail of fun, amusement and recreation that could be followed by any family group visiting the city during Summer Festival time.

NEW YORK BEING as large as it is, and its attractions so numerous and diverse, Queen Gloria and her charge could only sample some of the city's offerings in one day. Which only shows that New York City can be visited again and again and again without doing the same thing twice.

First stop on the royal tour was the super-liner United States, world's fastest passenger liner and a joy to behold. As expected, the boy asked the usual unexpected questions:

"Why are the hall ways so long?"
"Why are there so many lifeboats?"
"Why aren't the sailors wearing uniforms?"
Most lines welcome tourists when ships are at dock. For information on ships that are in port, watch the Marine News section of newspapers.

From the docks, it was a hop to one of four new motels in Manhattan with outdoor swimming pools. Two others are slated to open in Manhattan in the fall. Motels with outdoor pools also are located in the other boroughs, while two Manhattan hotels have indoor pools.

Atop the motor inn, Her Majesty reclined in the sun, and the young man from Jersey gambled about in the cooling waters of the pool, just like any guest of the hotel.

And then, suddenly, it was time for lunch. The following conversation ensued between the boy, a paragon of honesty, and the queen.

"How was the soup?" "Too hot."
"The hamburger?" "Too big."
"And the jello?" "Too much."
"How was lunch?" "Oh, I liked it very much."

So saying, he slid off his chair, and the entourage proceeded to the Union Carbide building where, mouths agape, the young couple gazed upon a moving, but not working, model of a reactor and other displays that purport to explain the mysteries of nuclear fission.

THE COMPANY is only one of many industrial concerns in New York City that either sponsor interesting displays and exhibits or offer tours of their plants to individuals and groups. The New York City Convention and Visitors Bureau, Dept. HT, 90 East 42nd St. New York 17, will supply its free pamphlet, "New York City Educational Tours," a quarterly calendar of events, entitled "New York is a Summer Festival," and a copy of its "Visitors Guide to New York," on request.

In Central Park, the boy dropped a fishing line into the water, but alas, someone had forgotten the bait.

Chicken War

Senator Cautions Europe Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

CHICKEN WAR. Sen. J. W. Fulbright has cautioned the European Common Market that a high tariff wall against American export could lead to a withdrawal of some U.S. troops from Europe. "If the Common Market is going to make it impossible for us to trade with them," Fulbright told a reporter, "We cannot afford to keep up the kind of establishment we have in Europe."

Earlier, Fulbright complained about the increase in the six-nation group's common tariff on poultry—from 4.5 cents to 14.2 cents a pound. The result has been a 60-per-cent drop in U.S. exports of frozen poultry to the area.

Monday, Fulbright said the higher duties on poultry are just a symbol of the tariff problem.

CUBAN: The Washington Post says the U.S. government is engaged in a concentrated effort to build up a strong underground network in Cuba.

This effort apparently began in May or June, the Post said, and consists of smuggling trusted Cuban exile agents, cash, arms and other equipment into the country, with the arms buried for future use.

The Central Intelligence Agency and other U.S. agencies are believed involved in the current effort.

OPERATION NINOS: More than 9 million Latin-American children are being fed through a special food for peace program administered in 18 Alliance for Progress countries, the Agency for International Development said today.

This is a 138-per-cent increase over the 3.9 million children who were benefiting from the child-feeding program a year ago, the agency said.

Voluntary agencies, principally Catholic Relief Services and Church World Service, are contributing to the program, called "Operation Ninos." Eighteen alliance countries including the United States are cooperating.

In Cincinnati Schools

State Board Gives Stand On Segregation Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bring us a court decision holding that the Cincinnati school system is practicing illegal segregation, the State Board of Education says, and we'll take it from there.

That is the essence of the State Board's stand as given Monday to counsel for the Cincinnati branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on its demand for state action.

Without a court finding, the board told Cincinnati NAACP general counsel Norris Muldrow at its monthly meeting Monday, the board cannot act on the complaint the NAACP brought over a scheduled transfer of pupils.

But if there does come a judicial decision that the Cincinnati situation constitutes illegal segregation, Board President Wayne E. Shaffer of Bryan assured Muldrow, the board has a duty to take such action as withholding funds from the Cincinnati school system.

At issue is a plan to transfer intact next month four classes of Negro pupils from overcrowded, predominantly Negro Evanston Elementary School to virtually all white Oakley Elementary School. The NAACP insists the Cincinnati board must break up the classes and put the pupils into integrated classes with other Oakley students.

Muldrow contended the transferred Evanston youngsters would have segregated classrooms, lunch and recess periods. Cincinnati school officials denied this.

Other State Board of Education business Monday included its resolution that a plan be drafted for centralized state purchasing of school buses to replace the present practice in which bus purchases rest with local districts.

The action came as the board found it necessary to reduce by 10 per cent the formula governing state aid payments to local districts for school bus purchases.

The reason was a reduced appropriation by the General Assembly.

The resolution points out that state funds are used to pay about two-thirds of the cost of buses bought by local districts. John Parsons, head of the Ohio Department of Education's Transportation Division, estimated that state purchasing might save $1 million to $1.5 million a year. He said a plan can be drafted for the board's consideration before the end of the year.

The plan will have to receive approval from the State Controlling Board as well as the Board of Education before it can be effected.

In other actions the State Board:

—Approved a resolution endorsing the proposed $250 million state bond issue on the November ballot which provides $175 million for university buildings, $35 million for emergency public school building loans and money for state recreation and state building facilities.

—Created a school district in Athens County, subject to voter approval at the November election, composed of the present Nelsonville, Glouster, Buchtel, York and Jackson-Trimble districts.

—Transferred the Chauncey-Dover District to the Athens City District, subject to voter approval in November.

—Revoked, effective June 30, 1964, high school charters on grounds of violating minimum standards at Jefferson, Verona, Monroe, Jackson and Gratis, all of Preble County, and Bloomfield in Trumbull County.

—Authorized 41 school districts to submit bond issues which would exceed 6 per cent of the valuation of their respective districts.

The treasurer was instructed to obtain $500 U.S. Savings Bonds as an investment of money in the Cemetery Endowment Fund.

Next meeting is Aug. 26.

Treaty

Britain and Russia signed the treaty a week ago in Moscow. McNamara's defense of the treaty—an unprecedented public discussion of U.S. nuclear capabilities—was, in effect, a reply to those who fear the ban would work to the military disadvantage of the United States.

He gave detailed figures on nuclear weapons which until now had been carefully censored out of all published testimony.

Among the points McNamara made:

The United States has nuclear superiority, is determined to maintain it and to achieve that "we maintain a total number of nuclear warheads, tactical as well as strategic, in the tens of thousands."

In very large weapons, the Soviets appear now to have some advantage in technology, but not in delivery ability.

The Soviets probably have no missile at this time which will deliver a 100-megaton warhead to ICBM ranges although even under a test ban, the Soviets could elect to develop such a missile.

The United States prefers to rely on smaller megatonnage bombs used in multiple numbers rather than build giant-size weapons. However, "the United States, without any further testing, can develop a warhead with a yield of 50 to 60 megatons" for delivery by its B52 bombers.

"It is clear that the Soviets do not have anything like the number of missiles necessary to knock out our Minuteman force, nor do they appear to have any present plans to acquire such capability."

McNamara said "the net of the relevant factors is that the U.S. nuclear force is manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's."

"The U.S. force now contains more than 500 missiles—Atlas, Titan, Minuteman, Polaris—and is planned to increase to over 1,700 by 1966. In addition, the U.S. has Strategic Air Command bombers on air-alert and over 500 SAC bombers on quick-reaction alert."

"By comparison, the consensus is that today the Soviets could place less than half as many bombers over North America on a first strike; the Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many ICBM missiles, and their submarine launched ballistic missiles are short-ranged, require surface launch and generally are not comparable to our Polaris force. Between now and 1966, it is estimated that our ballistic missile numerical superiority will increase both absolutely and relatively."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who testified Monday, said the ban would not damage "our relative strength." But the skeptics want the views of McNamara and of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who will testify later in the week.

Rusk, appearing before the Foreign Relations Committee with members of the Armed Services and Senate House Atomic Energy committees sitting in, said the United States intended to maintain its "very large nuclear superiority," which involves a heavy margin in tactical nuclear weapons.

The treaty, he emphasized, is not based on "trust of Russia," but on U.S. ability to detect explosions in the areas covered by the ban—the atmosphere, outer space and beneath the seas.

Facilities for atmospheric testing will be kept in a constant state of readiness so the United States can act quickly if Moscow violates the agreement, Rusk said.

"You don't stake the life of a great nation on the confidence that exists in the world today," he added.

He made clear he expects the Soviets to keep the agreement, since it is in their "self-interest" to do so.

The Soviet Union like the United States and Britain, the other parties to the Moscow agreement, has peered "into the pit of the inferno," Rusk said, and has a common interest in putting "at least a little lid" on the arms race and taking a small step toward avoiding a nuclear holocaust.

At another point Rusk said, "I believe the United States must maintain a very large over-all nuclear superiority with the ability to strike back and destroy an aggressor."

He said continued underground testing would enable it to do so.

The board authorized a student fee of $2.50 for high school art classes to cover costs of materials. The fee is in line with other laboratory charges in the school such as those for industrial arts and home economics, George VanHorne, executive head said.

The board also authorized the transfer of a surplus of some $5,000 left from a change in extended coverage insurance to book, supply and work funds. These funds had been cut back under the budget allotments for the year, due to decreased revenue, and were given priority for any additional funds, Van Horne explained.

Purchase of a second-hand 40-cubic-foot refrigerator unit for the Calcutta School was authorized from the Tri-State Equipment Co. of Beaver Falls at a cost of $395. The equipment will have a five-year warranty. Smaller units at the school will be transferred elsewhere.

Paul Dailey was appointed official board delegate to a meeting of the Ohio School Board Association Nov. 13-14.

The board approved the policy of paying regular daily salaries scale to secretaries who are summoned to work on vacation to substitute for someone who is ill.

It was announced a cafeteria employees' workshop will be held for Beaver Local staffs Sept. 30 with state aides and representatives of commercial firms to attend.

The board agreed to provide a cook for light meals served football squad members during pre-season training starting Friday. The Booster Club provides the food.

An audit of school activities funds, such as those of clubs and organizations, by an independent firm was adopted as a regular policy by the board.

The board discussed the planned vote on a 7-mill levy proposal in the November general election. All seven candidates for the board will be invited to attend board meetings starting Aug. 26 to learn about school and board operations and to obtain views on policy.

Trash

make a definite promise of additional funds if the incinerator department appropriation runs short at the end of the year, the department will resume the grass and hedge trimming collection on its normal schedules but without extra manhours, Owen said.

"This means that collections may fall behind and the trucks may not always be on certain streets as scheduled on certain days," Owen said.

Owen warned that in collecting hedge trimmings the department will not haul away entire hedges that have been cut off at ground level because of being frozen in extreme temperatures last winter. Such a task can mean an accumulation of two or three truckloads from a single piece of property, he said. Councilmen agreed with his ruling.

Melvin said most of the dissension and confusion over incinerator department operations arise because there are no formal rules governing the operation.

Welch suggested that Council consider legislation modeled after an ordinance already in effect at Zanesville, spelling out all the details of the trash department's operations and listing exactly what items will be hauled and which will be excluded.

That will be the job of the special committee he will ask the president to appoint, he said. Melvin said regulations also are needed to define the places where householders will be required to place their containers for pickup and a rule to allow the department to force replacement of rust-eaten garbage cans.

Welch said he feels the legislation should cover the full range of the department's operations.

Melvin said the decision to cut out collection of grass and hedge trimmings was not made by the administration alone. He said several councilmen joined in instructing him to curtail the service.

"We're not trying to get out of a job," he said. "We will abide by Council's decision."

Resuming the pickup of grass and hedge cuttings may mean that a route scheduled for collection at the end of the week may not be covered until Monday. Melvin said. The work will be particularly slow at first because a big backlog of grass has been built up, awaiting collection, he added.

Councilmen said householders threw the grass cuttings onto sidewalks and into gutters and alleys when they found the city no longer was collecting them.

Adding the necessary force to resume the grass and hedge cutting collection and still stay on schedule would mean an expenditure of approximately $820 more per month for wages, Melvin said. This represents the cost of $41 to $42 a day for the wages of an extra three-man crew that would be required, he said.

Questioned about finances by Owen, Councilman Edward Massey, a member of the finance committee, said additional funds will be provided for the incinerator department "if the money is there and it's needed."

Also attending the session were Councilmen Floyd Murray and Frank Duffy.

Police Kill 5 As Workmen Storm Prison

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (AP)—Rioting Congolese workmen stormed the Brazzaville city prison today and liberated all prisoners in the face of police fire which killed at least five persons and wounded several others.

Diplomatic sources said the firing broke out when striking workmen went to the prison to protest the arrest Monday night of some union officials.

Hastily mobilized police tried to force them back, but they smashed into the prison as gunfire crackled around them.

There were sounds of several heavy explosions shortly after the prison liberation.

Shortly after noon, the city had quieted but there were fears violence would break out anew.

The workers staged a general strike today and at a mass meeting of about 3,000 called for higher wages. They also charged graft in President Fulbert Youlou's government and demanded an end to official corruption.

Heated condemnation of Youlou was accompanied by shouted demands for several changes in the government.

The rioting was confined to demonstrations against the Youlou government. Whites who were on the streets were neither injured nor molested, according to diplomatic sources.

No Americans were reported involved or caught up in the rush of the crowd, many of them barefooted.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I wonder how many mothers are in the same boat.

I have knocked myself out for 15 years trying to please my children. But no matter what I do, it's never enough. There must be a sign on my back saying, "Kick me."

I get up at 6:30 every morning to prepare breakfast for my teenagers. All I get is complaints. "The milk is too warm. Did you leave it out all night? The cantaloupe is soggy. The cereal is runny. The eggs are too hard."

When I leave a meeting early to pick them up at the club (for the 50th time this summer) I get a sour look and a "Where have you been, anyway? We've been waiting five minutes."

How did the children of today get the upper hand? My teenagers make me feel like an employee. I find myself always striving to please — and never quite making the grade. Please tell me where I got off the track. — MOTHER, 1963 MODEL.

Dear Mother: Children are not born with "the upper hand." It is given to them — given by parents who don't have the courage to establish the rules for the family. This is called discipline. And when rules of behavior are worked out equitably and seasoned with love, discipline produces respectful, well-adjusted children.

Teenage tyranny is not new, but it is vastly more prevalent than it used to be. This is what

Henry James wrote 81 years ago in "Point of View": "There is nothing in America but young people. The country is made for the rising generation; life is arranged for them; they are the destruction of society."

"People talk of them, consider them, defer to them, bow down to them. They are always present, and whenever they are present there is an end to everything else. And by children, I don't mean infants only, I mean anything less than 20."

Birds Of A Feather

Dear Ann: My husband's boss is a man in his late 40s. He has an oily, egotistical manner which offends me.

This man has a wife and three children, but you'd never know it the way he carries on. His current romance is a shapely redhead who works in the cost accounting department and who is at least 20 years younger than he is. She drives his car all over town and she's been wearing some mighty expensive clothes lately.

The problem is this: My husband has been staying downtown about three evenings a week — having dinner with this couple. I don't like it and have said so. My husband says the boss is three times seven and what he does is his own business. I say birds of a feather flock together and I don't want anyone to get funny ideas about my husband. Who is right? — MRS. WHY INVITE GOSSIP?

Dear Mrs. Why: When your husband pals around with this pair he gives tacit approval to the whole shoddy business. A married man should be at home having dinner with his family — not acting as cover for philandering friends.

Annulment Question

Dear Ann: I was married for one year and recently had the marriage annulled legally and in my church as well. How do I go about announcing the news? Shall I see if I can have it published in the newspaper? Shall I send out engraved announcements in the mail?

Is it proper to keep the name Mrs. John Doe? Or shall I go back to Miss Mary Smith? I have a child.

Please advise me. None of my friends knows the answers. — LOAD OFF MY SHOULDERS.

Dear Load: You do not announce an annulment. Your family and friends will get the word soon enough, if they don't already know.

Since you have a child you should not be "Miss" anybody. You could make it Mrs. Mary Doe, however. Then if John remarries you won't be getting his wife's telephone calls and her department store bills.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Start Slated On Road In Empire Area

The State Highway Department Division 11 office at New Philadelphia said today equipment is being moved in for the start of work on the addition of two more lanes on Route 7 at Empire and Stratton.

James Lampert of the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry, general contractor for the project, said the engineering work has already started and that construction of drainage structures for the project will begin early next week.

At a pre-construction conference held at the New Philadelphia office, representatives of the contractor and the department discussed the proposed work schedule and sequence of construction operations.

Glenn Soland, engineer for Sutton & Stewart, Inc., who will be drainage and grading sub-contractors, said that they expect to begin their work at the southern end of the project in Empire and proceed northward.

The contract involves paving two additional lanes and resurfacing two existing lanes on the Route 7 section that was constructed several years ago when the Stratton Dam was built. Length of the project is 1.6 miles with a work length of 1.8 miles. About three-tenths mile is in Empire with the remaining portion in the Stratton corporation limits. The improved facility will be four lanes with a three ft. median divider.

Contract price is $353,939, and the completion date is set for Nov. 30.

In addition to highway department officials and contractor's representatives, officials from the Ohio Edison Co. were present at the meeting to discuss phases of construction as they would effect the generating plant at Stratton.

This project will connect with the recently completed four-lane relocation of Route 7 from near the Ohio Edison plant to Yellow Creek.

In other cases resulting from State Highway Patrol arrests, three motorists forfeited appearance bonds totaling $60.

Bandit Grabs $700 At Wheeling Market

The bandit, who was not wearing a mask, shouted "You are not going to catch me," as he ran from the store.

Trial Appeal Hearing Set

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff will hear arguments next Tuesday on motions for new trials filed on behalf of Melvin Harris, 1971 Pennsylvania Ave., sentenced to nine months in jail and fined $500 and costs after being convicted Aug. 5 on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and operating a motor vehicle after his license was suspended.

Atty. William S. Foulks filed the motion for Harris last Thursday, citing the same reasons for seeking a new trial on each count. They were that the verdict is not sustained by sufficient evidence; errors of law at the trial and other errors appearing from the record of the case, and accident or surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against.

Harris is free on a $500 bond pending the outcome of the motions. He was arrested July 28 after a pickup truck struck the rear of a halted auto at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mulberry St.

He testified at his trial that he was not the driver of the truck, claiming a man known only to him as "Charlie" was operating the truck but jumped out and fled after the crash.

Police Continue Probe In East End Burglary

Police still are continuing an investigation into the burglary of an East End garage in which one suspect has been accused of receiving and concealing stolen property, Chief Americo Radeschi said today.

Chief Radeschi said police believe at least one and possibly more were involved in the theft the weekend of Aug. 3 at the Seaforth Mineral & Ore Co. building, 1233 Pennsylvania Ave., in which four truck tires and rims, six cargo binders, six binder chains and two tarpaulins were taken. The loot was valued at approximately $319.

Donald W. Buzzard, rear 679 Riley Ave., is scheduled for a preliminary hearing Sept. 17 on the charge he received or concealed the property. Buzzard pleaded innocent when arraigned Friday on the charge filed by Lt. Clyde W. Boso. His bond was set at $1,000.

Burns & Roe, Inc., international, known power engineering firm, has been selected to design and engineer the new Fort Martin power generating station on the Monongahela River below Morgantown. It has been announced by Don Potter, president of Monongahela Power Co. at Fairmont, which serves the Hancock County area.

Burns and Roe was selected on a basis of bids, with five other engineering organizations competing for the assignment on the $57.5 million generating unit, to be built jointly by Monongahela and the Potomac Edison Co., both operating members of the Allegheny Power System.

Potter said that work will be started immediately on the engineering phase of the project with construction now scheduled to start next spring.

Council Asks Lisbon Street Project Bids

LISBON — Village Council agreed Monday night to meet in special session Wednesday, Aug. 28, to open new bids on blacktopping of S. Market St. from Washington St. south to the new bridge over Little Beaver Creek.

Council receive two bids on the project Aug. 5, but rejected both as too high and decided to advertise for new offers. At the same special session, the street committee will discuss a proposal from Councilman Raymond Dixon for purchase of a new loader for the street department.

Dixon proposed purchase of the loader at Council's regular session last night, when the question was referred to the street committee.

In other business, Council met with representatives of the Lisbon Civic Association to discuss a study which the group made on trimming and feeding trees on the Public Square.

G. V. Weinstock, president, and William E. Hiscox, secretary-treasurer, of the association, recommended that the village remove two of the trees, trim and feed the rest and remove all the wires which are hanging from the trees.

Council agreed to contact the Davey Tree Expert Co. of Kent for an estimate on feeding the trees and removing those which cannot be saved. The Civic Association representatives said they will seek an individual to bid on the removal job.

Dixon reported there are three men working around the dump west of Lisbon, operated by the and asked if the village is liable if any of the three is injured.

Councilmen said only one of the men is on the village payroll. Council decided to check with Solicitor Joseph Baronzi for a ruling, but expressed the opinion the village would not be responsible for persons not on the payroll.

Bills totaling $6,400 were ordered paid. The solicitor and Councilman Joseph Dornon were absent.

Next regular session will be Sept. 9 at 7:30 p. m.

Detention Given 5 In Vandalism

LISBON — Five Salem area youths, ages 15-18, were sentenced to three days detention in the County Jail Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin after they pleaded guilty to throwing bricks at mailboxes and newspaper tubes around the Salem, Guilford, Lisbon and Elkton areas July 27-28.

Ohio Drivers Advised On New Mishap Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Warren C. Nelson, state highway safety director, cautioned motorists today that Ohio's new accident information law will go into effect Aug. 19.

Under the new law, a motorist is required to remain at the scene of his accident until he has furnished his name, address and auto registration number to either the operator of the other vehicle or to a police officer.

Formerly, a driver was required to give such information only upon request.

The new law also specifies that if an accident involves an unattended vehicle, the driver is requested to "securely attach the required information in writing to a conspicuous place, in or on the unattended vehicle."

Young Woman Fined For Crashing Signal

A young Beaver County woman was fined $5 and costs today in Municipal Court when she pleaded guilty to a charge of crashing a traffic signal at E. 5th and Washington Sts.

Miss Margaret Anderson of Georgetown, R. D. 1 was cited Monday at 10:20 a. m. by Patrolman William A. Devon, officers said.

Miss Anderson also was accused of driving without an operator's permit, but Judge Samuel M. Chertoff dismissed the count when she produced a valid license. She explained she was not carrying the license when cited yesterday.

Police Awaiting Coroner's Tests In Girl Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police today awaited results of tests made by the Hamilton County coroner's office and hoped for some solid clues about the brutal slaying of pretty Patricia Ann Rehbolz.

The body of the 15-year-old cheerleader at suburban Greenhills High School was found early last Friday on a corner lot across the street from a boy friend's house. She was last seen alive as she left a teenagers' dance Thursday night to go the house.

Dr. Frank Cleveland, coroner's pathologist, took a blood sample from the boy friend Monday to determine his blood type. The youngster, Michael Wehrung, 15, came to the police station voluntarily. Investigators said there were some dark spots on the pants he wore the night of the murder.

Dr. Cleveland said Miss Rehbolz's killer grabbed her around the throat from behind and then struck her head with a section from a heavy fence post.

She was not molested sexually and her purse was found near the body.

Cook a package of frozen cauliflowerets and add it to creamed shrimp for an interesting flavor combination.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Gals: Are you in the habit of ironing in your kitchen?

If so, why? Take that ironing board to your living room and set it up in the prettiest spot in your house! After all that living room contains most of your loveliest things, so why not enjoy them?

Just because grandma called the living room her "parlor"—which was only for "company"—and on Sundays—does not mean that you can't enjoy it yourself.

You will find that your ironing will become a pleasure when associated with your finest things such as your nice sofa, etc. Besides, you will consider yourself "company" (which you certainly are) and find your ironing enjoyable instead of drudgery.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found a way to make my own spray starch.

In a quart jar, I put 1/4 cup of cold water instant starch and pour in a pint of cold water. Stir this until blended and fill the jar with hot water. This seems to finish dissolving the starch!

Then pour this solution into a small size bottle with the plunger spray attachment. Spray as you iron and your clothes have a beautiful finish.

There is no extra handling such as wringing out the starch water after washing, or dampening the clothes after they are dry. I have never found white marks on my son's black slacks with this method.

MRS. JANICE COOK.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you or any of your readers remember how to make what was called a "depression plant"? I believe that salt, a lump of coal, mercuric iodine, and other chemicals were placed in a dish. However, I have forgotten the proportions. Could you help me?

ANNE W. KEELY.

If anyone knows the answer to Anne's question please write to Heloise.

DEAR HELOISE: When I cut out Hints from Heloise... I put a little notation on the side of each article to tell me what the key word is and what it contains. So I don't have to read all of them to find out the special answer I want!

MRS. H.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever our grocery has a sale on chicken breasts (we only like white meat) I buy a dozen or so at a time. I clean and then bone them. I use a very sharp pointed knife for this.

I wrap each breast separately and stack them in our freezer. These boned breasts are always ready to fry with or without thawing, or to thaw and stuff with dressing. By deboning they take up less space in the deep freeze, too.

I toss the bones into a stew pot and add some onion and celery tops and seasoning. Let this cook until tender, then cool in their own broth.

When I pick the bones I often have enough meat for chicken salad or sandwiches! I use the broth for soup and gravy, or take some of the broth and add a bit of chicken for chicken a la king.

M.C.H.

DEAR HELOISE: If you are expecting a blessed event in your family and wish to keep it a secret as long as possible, wear the same clothes you have been wearing.

You will find that some of your skirts (with the seam in the middle) can be ripped open and two tapes can be attached, so that you can tie them. A strip of elastic also can be used.

Some of your favorite blouses can have the seam ripped up each side and then they do not gap in the front when you let them hang outside.

You will be glad if you can wear your own clothes like this as you get awfully tired of those maternity dresses if you start wearing them too soon.

The best part of this idea is that you will surprise so many people and they will compliment you on how slim you stayed, when really you didn't at all! Then too, you also have some clothes to wear afterwards, while waiting for your weight to get back to normal.

Contracts Let For Southern Local Project

Contracts for new bleachers, bread and milk were awarded by the Southern Local School District Board of Education at a meeting Monday night at the Franklin School at Summitville.

The Brown Equipment Co. of Ashland was given a $3,724 contract for bleachers at the new high school on Route 39 east of Salineville. The firm's bid was the lowest of three.

The Russell Dairy of Wellsville and Melhorn Dairy of Salineville were granted contracts for supplying milk for schools at 5 1/2 cents for half pints of white and 6 cents for chocolate.

The firms had the contracts last year. Golden Star Dairy of East Liverpool bid 6 cents for both kinds.

The Continental Baking Co. was the lowest of four bakeries offering bids for bread, and received the contract. The firm bid 20 cents for sandwich loaves. Other firms were Goddard Bakers, Nickles and Ward Baking Co.

The board awarded to Karl Landner of Nationwide Insurance Co. the contract for insurance for the district's 15 buses.

Representatives of the Ohio Department of Education will make a final inspection of the new high school Thursday morning, it was announced.

The board authorized materials for roofs and flooring for the ticket booth and concession stand at the new football field.

Drilling of a new well at the Wayne School by Smith Drilling Co. of Lisbon was authorized, along with installation of new doors at the school.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Eleanor Blamer, Franklin teacher, who plans to move to Indiana.

Jack Baker, executive head, said the district is in need of a high school English teacher and two elementary instructors.

Bus drivers will meet Wednesday morning at the Salineville school cafeteria for arrangement of new bus routes for the fall term.

The board will meet Sept. 9 at No. 16 School at 6 p. m. with a Parent-Teacher Association meeting to follow. County Auditor Kenneth Bell will discuss the school tax system at the joint session.

70 Picket U.N., Urge Hiring Of Negroes At Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—Seventy civil rights demonstrators picketed the United Nations Monday, calling on countries to halt construction of exhibits at the 1964-65 New York world's fair until more Negroes and Puerto Ricans were hired for the work.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said picketing might be extended to sites at the fair in Flushing Meadow Park, Queens.

The demonstration by whites and Negroes in the U.N. plaza was aimed primarily at African and Latin-American nations. Pickets carried such signs as, "African pavilions built with lily white labor."

A spokesman for the Joint Committee for Equal Employment Opportunity, representing six civil rights organizations, said that as of last week no Negroes or Puerto Ricans were employed at the world's fair pavilion sites of Guinea and Sierra Leone.

Board Employees 4

5 Of Hancock's Faculty Resign

The former director of the Wells High School band, and the director of guidance and testing in the county system were among five instructors who submitted resignations at the Hancock County Board of Education meeting Monday night.

First-Graders Must Be 6 Before Nov. 1

All youngsters entering first grade in the Hancock County school system this fall must be 6 years old prior to Nov. 1 to be eligible for enrollment, Supt. Robert H. Hall explained today.

He pointed out that if a child's birthday is Nov. 1, he is not eligible for first grade. Beginning pupils must be 6 years prior to Nov. 1 of the current school year, he explained.

Supt. Hall's office has been besieged by phone calls from parents seeking information on the entrance age requirements.

John Larry Clark, former Newell band director, and William S. Diehl, director of guidance and testing, were among those giving up their posts.

CLARK, 24, was hired as band director at Newell in April 1961 to succeed Mrs. Alyce Ann McDevitt. He has accepted a post as band director of four junior high schools and two elementary schools in the West Palm Beach (Fla.) system.

Diehl, who has been guidance director in the system several years, resigned to become dean of men at Glenview State Teachers' College.

Supt. Robert H. Hall said the board does not plan to name a successor to Diehl this year. Instead, his duties will be handled by the elementary, junior high and high school curriculum coordinators.

ALSO resigning were Steve Psaroudis, art instructor; Mrs. Goldye Getschman, supervisor of elementary physical education and Mrs. Dorothy Tarantini, elementary.

The board hired Mrs. Grace Charlton, Mrs. Jacquelyn S. Williams, Pete Rohal and David R. Marsh as instructors for the new school term.

IN OTHER action, the board made plans to advertise for bids for insurance, authorized purchase of new bleachers for an athletic field in Newell, and agreed to assume ownership of Weirton Municipal Stadium.

Supt. Hall, secretary, was authorized to advertise for bids for coal, and pupil and school bus insurance, with offers to be received until Aug. 26.

The board is also asking additional bids for blacktopping areas at new high schools in Pughtown and Weirton. The contractor for the buildings submitted the initial bids.

Purchase of 1,000 wood bleachers with steel frames for the athletic field at Wells High School in Newell was authorized. The Oak Glen football squad will play its home games at the Newell site.

PURCHASE of automatic, hydraulic-operated doors separating the gymnasiums in the North and South high schools was also approved.

The doors, four-inches thick, will be erected to allow separation of the gymnasiums for use by both girls and boys at the same time. The door for the South gymnasium will cost $14,250, and the North, $10,458. Interest accumulated on bond money in the state sinking fund will help finance the cost.

The board considered a proposal for closing both Grandview and Jefferson Rural Schools but agreed to table the question until the next meeting Aug. 26.

Closing of the two buildings was recommended in a survey compiled a few years ago by a team from Ohio State University, prior to the start of a $5 1/2 million school expansion program.

THE BOARD also accepted ownership of Weirton Municipal Stadium after receiving a letter from City Council explaining the city wishes to divest itself of all rights, title and interest.

3rd Buddhist Monk Burns Self To Death

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A Buddhist novice monk slipped out of his pagoda during the night and burned himself to death in protest against the South Vietnamese government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

It was the third Buddhist suicide by fire and followed a suicide attempt Monday night by a girl in Saigon who tried to cut off her arm with a hatchet.

Stunned Buddhist leaders said they had not authorized the novice, Thich Thanh Tue, 17, to take his life. The leaders appeared to be losing control of the suicide tactic they began two months ago.

The charred body of the novice was found this morning outside a pagoda three miles west of the central Vietnamese city of Hue.

He apparently soaked his clothing in kerosene and touched a match to himself about 2 a. m. He died alone and his body was found four hours later.

Reliable sources said the monk left behind four letters, all protesting the persecution which Buddhist leaders charge to the Roman Catholic-dominated Diem government.

Thousands of Buddhists were reported en route to the scene from Hue. It was reported that the procession was orderly and police made no attempt to interfere.

Hue, ancient capital of Viet Nam, was the scene of the initial outbreak in the bitter dispute between the Buddhists and the Diem government.

The girl who tried to kill herself was Mai Tuyet An, 18, a Saigon University student. Monks and nuns found her screaming incoherently in Saigon's main pagoda, her arm crushed. They bandaged her arm and reluctantly took her to a hospital after the American Embassy refused to supply a doctor.

Repair Of Water Line In East End Postponed

A water service cutoff scheduled today for an East End area to permit repair of a broken 4-inch main has been postponed until Wednesday from 8 a. m. to noon, Supt. Donald T. Duke said this morning.

Water department crews are scheduled to repair a break about 12 to 14 feet long in a 4-inch line on Mulberry St., just off Pennsylvania Ave. The repair scheduled this morning was postponed when it was discovered the break is more extensive than first believed and more time will be required to uncover the line and prepare for the job.

The break occurred Sunday leaving about 50 homes and businesses without water. It was fixed temporarily with a repair clamp. The job tomorrow will cut off service for Mulberry St. from Pennsylvania Ave. to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, all of Monaca St. and Merlin St. and a section of High St.

Boy, 14, Lucky To Survive Ride In Sewer Pipe

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—A terrifying ride through a sewer pipe failed to dampen Billy Coughlin's spirit.

The 14-year-old delivery boy for the Manchester Union Leader went home, changed clothes and left on his paper route.

Police said Billy was lucky to be alive.

With four friends, Billy was investigating the huge sewer pipe leading from a manhole near his home. A sudden roar brought the band up short. Billy was swept away by a burst of water which carried him near the outlet in the Merrimac River.

Billy said he grabbed a wire mesh screen and hung on until the water subsided. Then he scrambled up the pipe to the nearest opening.

Police said they had no doubt the first thing Billy did was change clothes.

None Hurt Seriously In Ohio Bus Mishap

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A Greyhound bus with 29 persons aboard swerved to avoid a turning car, rolled between two trees, missed a culvert and ended up in an eight-foot deep ditch in North Ridgeville Monday.

Nobody was hurt seriously, but three persons were treated at a hospital in Elyria and released. Among the injured was Miss Anna F. Perry, 18, of Cleveland.

The bus driver, George Dougherty, 34, of Eastlake, said he veered off the road when a car being passed by the bus turned toward it. The Detroit-bound bus was on its way to Toledo.

James Gorski, 16, of Westlake, driver of the car, told police he had panicked when the trunk lid popped open.

Rain Hits As Troops Launch Field Drills

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP)—Rain hit here Monday, just after the entire 37th Infantry Division had moved out for a week of rigorous maneuvers in the field.

Indications from the Weather Bureau were that more than 8,000 Ohio National Guardsmen and 800 attached Reservists would spend most of this second week of training in the chilling rain.

On tap for the whole division the rest of this week are combat-like maneuvers stressing guerrilla warfare. Aggressors will attack each unit of the division at least 20 times during the week.

Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, division commander, says this type of fighting is being stressed because "any potential enemy of the United States knows the value of guerrilla warfare and we want to be prepared in case we are ever forced to fight it."

Group Acts Quickly On Dangerous Road

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Russell Pyle of North Coventry Township complained to the Board of Supervisors Monday night that a steep, rocky road leading to his home was dangerous. He said the supervisors ought to repair it, pointing out they would be held liable if anyone got hurt.

The supervisors quickly agreed. They closed the road.

Pyle can still reach his home but he has to take a different road.

State's Reply Due In Motion

To await filing of a bill of particulars requested by the defense, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance in a scheduled hearing for Mrs. Elizabeth J. Woolley, 738 Green Ln., accused of making "false representations" to obtain funds from the Columbiana County subdivision of the Ohio State Division of Aid for the Aged.

Mrs. Woolley pleaded not guilty at arraignment Aug. 5 on the charge filed by Mrs. Edith V. Hilditch, manager of the county office. Her hearing had been set for today and she appeared in court accompanied by her counsel, Atty. George A. Aronson.

However, Judge Chertoff pointed out that the defense has not been furnished with a bill of particulars which it requested in a motion filed Friday. The judge said the case will be continued until the bill of particulars is filed by Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw, but he set no date.

Mrs. Hilditch's affidavit alleges that on Sept. 30, 1960, the Green Ln. woman "being a recipient of Aid for the Aged, did make false representations to the Columbiana County subdivision of the Ohio State Division of Aid for the Aged with intent of obtaining aid to which she was not entitled or a higher rate of aid than that to which she was entitled."

In its motion for a bill of particulars, the defense asked the prosecution to furnish data "setting out in detail the facts of the violations claimed to have been committed, including the individual dates and amounts thereof."

Dayton Voters Decide Today On City Government Change

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A small Daytonians went to the polls to decide whether to change their form of city government after 50 years.

The issue was the proposed "strong mayor" system versus the commission-city manager arrangement under which Dayton has operated since Jan. 1, 1914.

When the voters adopted the present system 50 years ago Monday, Dayton became the first U.S. city of more than 8,000 population to establish this form of government.

The present population is about 270,000, but only 15,000 to 30,000 of the 85,000 registered voters were likely to ballot today, election officials said.

An organization called the Committee for Representative Government launched the campaign for a change.

The committee and its supporters say the proposed setup of a mayor elected at large, with the city manager as his deputy, and a nine-member Council elected by district would provide better representation.

Fighting to retain the commission-manager scheme is the Dayton League for Good Government.

The league and its allies say the present form, five commissioners elected at large for four-year terms on a nonpartisan basis and an appointed city manager, has worked well through the years.

If the strong mayor government is adopted, a special primary will be held next month to choose candidates for the November election. The new system then would take effect Jan. 1, 1964.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Dreaming Other People's Dreams Of Glory

If Gentlemen's Quarterly (cor-duroy waistcoat, madras jacket, ruffled skirt) is the Baedeker of men's fashion, then Variety (wide lapels, shoulder pads, purple pin stripes, horseshoe tie-tack) is the Baedeker of show business.

In fact, it's been called the Bible of show business, but that's a matter we shall leave in the hands of the church fathers.

Alan Gill

VARIETY has a brassy style all its own; it has more agents on the loose than the CIA has; it's simply loaded with integrity; and I find the reading of it not only a professional necessity but a distinctive pleasure.

It also loves the people of show business — her agents, producers, broadcasters, clowns — and will not hesitate a moment before leaping to the rescue of a maligned network or a bankrupt song writer.

Perhaps that's why Variety looked so distrustfully at the former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, Newton Minow, during his splenic reign, and why it now is blowing cigar smoke into the face of Minow's successor, E. William Henry.

MINOW was and Henry is, in effect, a policeman; and Variety thought Minow was a bit too liberal with the night stick and fears that Henry will be as bad or worse.

Why, Variety seems to ask week after week, would a decent honest policeman want to be so tough? But, ah! He's out for self-glorification, that's what! Ruthless ambition!

Months before Minow resigned, Variety predicted his departure. It implied that Minow had come into politics with only one shirt and a toothbrush, was prepared to leave at the first bright offer from a large corporation.

INSTEAD of the method of quiet, effective persuasion, Variety charged, Minow fought the broadcasters in the harsh glare of publicity, calling their product a vast wasteland. As doggedly as Minow snapped at the heels of CBS, NBC and ABC, Variety snapped at the heels of Minow.

Well, now, here comes Mr. Henry out of the practice of law in Memphis, Tenn., and Variety is already in a lather. "Mr. Clean," they've been calling him. And they're been dreaming his dreams of glory for him.

Does he, Variety asked, last week, "see himself as governor of Tennessee or U.S. senator? Can he, long beyond midnight, as he dreams, see a border-state governor or senator with his tall physique, who has made the television set in everybody's living room a symbol of white knightism, taking the oath of office as President?"

OR — AND HERE Variety comes down a few pegs — "does he look ahead to the riches and the fine things that will accumulate for his daughters (one of whom is currently in Caroline Kennedy's White House nursery school) if he leaves government for a law practice with major corporate accounts?"

Come clean, Mr. Clean, is it riches or glory you're after? That's what Variety is asking. But then Variety adds: "Such questions suggest an ulterior motive behind a man who may have none — consciously."

The reporter goes on to assert that "Henry has style," he has "competence" and the "self-assurance that breeding combined with mental evidence can guarantee," and "he has not yet given positive evidence that he intends to be unreasonable with broadcasters."

THE VARIETY EDITORS, on the other hand, have given positive evidence that they will be unreasonable with Bill Henry if he gets rough with the broadcasters.

They'll call him a megalomaniac, if he doesn't watch out; they'll say he's rapacious, coldly power-hungry, greedy, sadistic, and stuck up. In effect, though maybe not "consciously," they've served notice on Bill Henry that he must play the game like a company man, or else.

That's no way to talk to the chief of police. And it's no way for the Baedeker — or Bible — of show business to act. The moment a trade paper begins to sound like an apologist for the front office, it begins to lose its stuff.

Cleveland Informed

On Way To Avoid Tax

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ralph J. Perk, Republican auditor of Cuyahoga County, says that if Cleveland tightens its fiscal management, "I am convinced that a city income tax will not be necessary at any time."

Perk gave that view Monday while announcing that he had added $23,206,090 to Cleveland's tax duplicates for the coming 1963 tax year. The increases result from new construction and from commercial and industrial tax boosts by Perk.

4 Chosen, 4 Resign

Midland Board Hires Teachers

The Midland Board of Education made several personnel changes at its meeting Monday night, hiring four new teachers, accepting the resignations of four, and designating a new assistant football coach.

Resignations were accepted from Miss Carolyn Karcher, as the Lincoln High School and public librarian; Ronald G. Markel as a high school mathematics teacher; Miss Catherine Rutherford as assistant librarian and evening high school librarian, and Miss Margaret Tomec as a fourth grade teacher.

RICHARD Grimm of Midland was appointed as math instructor at a salary of $4,200; Miss Hallie Hastings of Uniontown, as a fourth grade teacher at $5,000; Mrs. Cecelia Santangelo of Beaver as a teacher in the kindergarten, at $4,200, and Mrs. Joanna Bannon of Beaver as a commercial instructor at $4,800.

Philip Lalaeff of Aliquippa, hired by the board at its June meeting to teach general science, was appointed as an assistant varsity football coach for the coming term at a salary of $400.

In other personnel action, Mrs. Nancy Yukich was transferred from her position as clerk at the health clinic to the office of the guidance director, and Miss Mary Demoratz from the guidance office to the health office.

Payment of a premium of $673 was approved for the Bassinger & Gifford Agency for the school blanket liability insurance for the year. The agency also was paid a $67.12 premium for insurance on the school tractor.

IN RESPONSE to a letter from Mayor Eli Corak concerning representation on the proposed Human Relations Commission, the board appointed its president, James Morrison, as its member.

It was announced that the total amount of the salary adjustment, resulting from recent legislation, would amount to $3,600.

Morrison reported the board had held a meeting with Council concerning a possible site for a new consolidated elementary school and he is going to request another conference within the next two weeks.

He said council promised full support and urged each member of the board to do likewise.

Letter of thanks were received from Chapter 234 of the Order of Eastern Star and from the Midland Band Boosters for the board's permission in operating booths at the park and stadium July 4.

The Midland volunteer fire department request was granted for the high school band to appear in a parade Aug. 24 and the Midland Junior Women's Club was authorized to use the rooms in the basement area of the new gym for sewing classes on Mondays from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

The Beaver County Board of Elections asked that another voting place be selected for the one now in the basement of the 7th St. School. The election board said it had received numerous complaints of too many steps to climb to reach the polling booths.

IN RESPONSE, the school board said the auxiliary playground at the kindergarten could be used.

Samuel Rosatone, maintenance superintendent, was given authority to make needed repairs to the 1st St. heating system and to arrange to clean and paint the lower floor of the high school as a result of the flash flood last month.

Rosatone said one of the control panels on the scoreboard at the stadium would need some repair as it was submerged in the flood. He said the borough had helped the maintenance crew cut down three trees which were too close to the 1st St. School.

2,500 Are Laid Off At Lorain Ford Plant

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Some 2,500 employees at the Lorain Ford assembly plant have been laid off for three weeks while model changeovers on passenger car lines are being made.

The layoff period, which started Monday, will be longer than usual because of radical change in design planned for 1964 model Corvets and Falcons, a company spokesman said.

Not affected by the changeover will be an additional 2,200 employees in the commercial truck division of the assembly facility.

Those workers furloughed after a year or more of service are guaranteed 65 per cent of their usual pay from regular state unemployment funds, supplemented by benefits paid by the Ford Co., the company said.

Dodgers Sit Back While Phils Nip Ambitious Giants, 3-1

Bob Friend Tops Colts For No. 14

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Blue Monday? Not for the Los Angeles Dodgers. It's their favorite day.

First, it's often baseball's day of rest and the Big Three of the Dodger pitching staff say they need it. Second, the last two Mondays the National League leaders have sat on the sidelines and watched some of the also-rans knock off their principal opposition, the San Francisco Giants.

Slow Pitch Tourney Draws Nine Teams

Nine teams have entered an open Slow Pitch tournament which will get underway Wednesday with two games at the Thompson Park field.

Pairings on opening night in the double elimination tourney show Koerber's meeting Scaffide at 6 p. m. while Dan-D Bar faces Klondyke at 7.

Thursday, Ohio Valley and Wellsville square off at 6 and Midland and the Bombers collide at 7.

The seventh-place Philadelphia Phillies did the job Monday, rallying for a 3-1 verdict over the Giants that increased the idle Dodgers' lead from 3½ to four games. A week before, ninth-place Houston turned the trick, edging the Giants 5-4 and increasing the idle Dodgers' lead from 4½ to five games.

Then, too, there's the rest angle. And Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale say they badly need it. The record bears them out. Their combined recent record is 5-6.

The Phillies' Johnny Callison and lefty Chris Short were the principal Giant-killers in the last episode, Short beating the Giants for the first time in his four-year major league career and Callison belting a decisive two-run eighth inning homer.

Boston edged Minnesota 5-4 and ended a nine-game losing string while Pittsburgh knocked off Houston 4-2 in the only other games scheduled in the majors.

Short, who had an 0-5 lifetime record against the Giants, spaced eight hits, struck out eight and walked only one. He got all the support he needed from Callison and Roy Sievers.

Willie Mays got one of the Giant hits and extended his hitting string to 14 games.

The loss was charged to Jim Duffalo, his first of the season.

Lou Clinton, restored to Boston's right-field job in a line-up shuffle, bashed two homers and drove in four runs as the Red Sox snapped their long losing string and a six-game Twin winning streak.

Jerry Lynch drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the first inning and his defensive replacement, Manny Mota, singled in another in the eighth in Pittsburgh's conquest of Houston. Bob Friend won his 14th of the season.

EL Stars Face New Castle Today, Seek Regional Pony Championship

The East Liverpool Pony League All-Stars go out today in an effort to wrap up their first Regional Pony Championship and gain a spot among an elite 16 teams from over the nation who will enter Divisional playoffs next week.

The local nine faces New Castle today at 5:30 p. m. at Alexander Field in New Castle. East Liverpool already defeated New Castle, 5-0, when Jeff Hall hurled a neat no-hitter last Saturday.

New Castle eliminated Washington (Pa.) Monday night, 2-1, by rallying in the last of the seventh inning.

If the East Liverpool Stars would lose today, they would still have a chance to come back for another crack Wednesday in the double elimination tournament.

If East Liverpool wins today, the victory would send the Potters into Divisional play and only 16 teams would remain from all over the nation.

East Liverpool would play in the Eastern Division at Washington, Pa., home of Pony League baseball where the World Series will be staged.

The other divisions are the Central Division to be played at Kankakee, Ill., Southern Division at Marietta, Ga. and Western Division at National City, Calif.

Besides the winner of the New Castle regional tournament, other areas which will compete at Washington in the Eastern Division will come from St. Laurent, Quebec, Hagerstown, Md. and Charlotte, N. C.

SLOW PITCH CHAMPS. Koerber's made it a clean sweep in the Thompson Park Slow Pitch League this season winning the league championship and the playoff title. Second row—Jim George, Mike O'Farrell, Mike Mikita, Monte Stiffler, Bernie Onuska, Dick Crews and Clayton Diamond.

Climax Is Near In Butts' Trial

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP)—A climax appeared near today in Wally Butts' court fight for a $10-million libel judgment from Curtis Publishing Co. after the former Georgia coach burst into tears on the witness stand.

Butts broke down Monday after again denying Saturday Evening Post charges that he helped rig the outcome of the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

His attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., indicated that the initial case for Butts might be concluded shortly. This is the seventh day of the trial.

On the stand when court adjourned Monday was John Carmichael, Atlanta businessman and former associate of the publishing firm's star witness, George P. Burnett.

Carmichael testified he was standing outside an office door at the time Burnett said he was listening in on a telephone conversation between Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

The Post said Butts fed data on Georgia's team to Bryant.

Carmichael, dapper and dark-haired, was asked what Burnett told him.

"Well, he said Coach Wally Butts had called Coach Bear Bryant and he had got hooked up in the conversation... and Coach Butts said some football player... was a great player... and Georgia had added two coaches... and Bryant was to call back."

Carmichael said Burnett asked for advice about betting on the game, then nine days in the future. But Carmichael said he told Burnett to forget the whole thing.

Carmichael was called after Butts had testified the Post charges were not true. As his attorney read a Post editorial note charging him and Bryant with rigging the game, Butts sat impassively. Asked if the charge was true, Butts said:

"No. And I would like to explain that. For a time, I hid from people. But not any longer—because it is not true!"

Then he burst into sobs.

Holding his right hand over his eyes, the stocky Butts half-stumbled from the witness stand. His wife and three daughters, sitting near the counsel table, also began weeping as did several spectators in the crowded courtroom.

Judge Lewis R. Moran called a recess for about 10 minutes.

When Butts returned to the stand, he was questioned by a Curtis attorney about a financial statement showing his worth at more than $200,000 in July, 1961.

"I've never been worth $100,000," said Butts who said he is now insolvent.

Butts said he had lost on several business ventures, had to sell his home in Athens and owed money to several banks.

"You don't deny that this statement shows you have a net worth of $205,988?" he was asked.

"No," Butts said. "But my financial condition has changed."

The statement was prepared, he said, to accompany applications for small loan licenses. He has testified he held interest in six small loan firms.

Musial To Call It Quits After 22 Years In Game

By TOM PENDERGAST

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Stan Musial, 42, wrote his baseball obituary Monday.

"Baseball has been my life," said the tearful Cardinal legend in announcing his retirement at the end of this season after 22 years in the major leagues. "I love St. Louis and I've had fun all of these years."

Choked with emotion, The Man chose as a setting for his retirement announcement the picturesque country quiet of Grant's Farm, estate of Cardinal president August A. Busch Jr. Busch was out of town and Branch Rickey, baseball's old warhorse and Redbird senior consultant, was not present.

But Stan's St. Louis teammates were, along with their families. They gave Musial a standing ovation when he moved to a battery of microphones and faced television cameras at the annual Cardinal picnic.

"This is a happy occasion in a way," he said, "and an unhappy occasion in a way. But I'll be associated with the Cardinals in a continuing capacity."

Red-eyed, the man from Donora, Pa., said his retirement was inevitable.

"Our outfield is in good hands," he said, "and I don't think a fellow can expect to play longer than 22 years in the major leagues. But I've had the best job in the world. The thrill of putting on a major league uniform, hitting, fielding and playing ball is greater than any other job I could ever have."

He said that he would continue to operate his St. Louis restaurant and manage a baseball bat firm.

Musial's almost unparalleled feats on the diamond gained him sports immortality.

He has played more games with one major league club than any player in history. He holds National League records for runs, 1,519; games, 2,987; hits, 3,610; doubles, 721; times at bat, 10,881; and runs batted in, 1,937. He holds the major league record for total bases, 6,999.

Three times The Man won National League Most Valuable Player awards—in 1943, 1946 and 1948. Seven times he held batting titles—.357 in 1943, .365 in 1946, .376 in 1948, .346 in 1950, .355 in 1951, .336 in 1952 and .351 in 1957.

Last year he played in 135 games, batting .330. Playing fewer games this year he was hitting .260 Monday but was fourth among the Cards in RBI's with 44.

Musial's last regular season game will be in St. Louis Sept. 29 against Cincinnati.

Browns Ask Big Mike To Forget Retirement

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—"Come back, Mike. We need you."

The Cleveland Browns put out that distress call Monday to former captain and offensive tackle Mike McCormack in the hope he will come out of retirement.

Arthur Modell, club president, conferred with McCormack, who is selling insurance in his hometown of Kansas City.

The Browns ran into trouble in the 24-10 opening exhibition loss to Detroit when tackle Monte Clark, who was supposed to replace McCormack, suffered torn knee ligaments. Clark will be out for at least two weeks.

When he retired after the 1962 season, McCormack, 23, a solid performer on the Browns' line for 10 years, said he might come out of retirement if Cleveland had trouble on the offensive line.

There were strong indications that McCormack will respond to the new appeal.

With Clark sidelined, Coach Blanton Collier said John Brown will start at the offensive tackle spot in Saturday night's game with Baltimore.

Mound Staff Of NL Pacers Getting Tired

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Dodgers have had the National League lead continuously since July 2 but the Big Three of the pitching staff agree that they're getting a bit tired.

Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have complained of stiff arms. Johnny Podres has required lots of manipulation by the trainers to keep his pitching arm in condition.

"We're going to have to get some runs or we'll be in bad shape," says Drysdale. "Our pitching staff is wearing down faster this year than last. Close games grind down the staff and we've had a lot of close ones. I'm tired and stiff right now and I've been taking vitamin shots every other day."

Koufax didn't have his curve ball when he warmed up before Sunday's game against Cincinnati and was bombed out. He said his arm felt dead.

Both Koufax and Drysdale indicated they thought 19-year-old Richie Calmus might be able to give the staff a lift if permitted to take a starting role. The rookie has the fourth best earned run average at 2.88, but has worked only 25 innings in relief.

"I wish I had known at 19 what Calmus knows now about pitching," said Koufax. "He knows what to do when he takes the mound and some of the guys think he should be starting."

But Podres says Calmus hasn't been tested under pressure.

Podres agreed that Calmus had looked good in his relief roles.

Podres will pitch the series opener tonight against Milwaukee, with the veteran Warren Spahn possibly opposing him. Spahn hasn't pitched since he developed a sore elbow July 29, and if he doesn't feel able to go at game time, Bob Sadowski will be the Braves' starter. He beat the Dodgers in Los Angeles July 21.

Former Mile King Losing In Effort To Help Kids

WICHITA (AP) — There was a time when nothing could beat Glenn Cunningham.

The Kansas miler proved he couldn't be beaten by boyhood explosion injuries which scarred his burned legs so badly doctors thought he wouldn't walk again. He became a runner and set a number of world track records in the 1930s.

After Navy service in World War II he took up farming as a summertime occupation. In winter months he toured the world lecturing.

But today, the former athlete, now 53, is being beaten in the thing he loves the most—helping children.

In the past 16 years the Glenn Cunningham Wild Animal Farm, 22 miles east of Wichita on U.S. 54, has given a second chance to 7,000 children.

Explains Cunningham: "I'd be on a speaking tour and I'd hear about a youngster who was having troubles and was underprivileged, was becoming a juvenile delinquent. I'd say 'Send him out to the farm and we'll take care of him as long as he wants to stay.'"

This year there will be no such guests.

The Cunninghams, who have 11 children of their own, ran the farm, stocked it with 32 varieties of animals, and fed, lodged and sometimes even clothed the youngsters who came to stay with them. And now they've simply run out of money.

"The farm itself was never meant to make money, although people are welcome to tour it for a small admission charge. In 15 years it has made about $1,000.

"But I bought the animals for the kids, because I'm convinced that learning to get along with animals does more for troubled kids than anything else."

If he doesn't find funds, will he keep the farm open? "It's all here for the kids," he says, "and without kids, what's the use of any of it?"

Confidence Is Key, Says Mays On Batting Slumps

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Willie Mays has a formula for handling batting slumps: Don't get down on yourself, don't lose your courage or your confidence.

The 32-year-old outfielder for the San Francisco Giants has shaken one of the worst hitting droughts of his fine career. After batting at about a .260 level most of the 1963 season he has upped his average to a respectable .290 and currently has a 14-game hitting string going.

What causes a slump? "If I could explain what causes a slump I'd never go into one," commented Mays before Monday night's game with Philadelphia. Mays, who has hit .344 since July 1, said he expects slumps.

"I know I'm going to have at least one a season," he admits. "The thing to do is not fight yourself about it. I know what I can do and know that if I keep doing it I'll come out of it."

Confidence is the key to the Mays slump formula. He says you have to believe in yourself, that if you don't you're licked. He said he learned that the first year he came up with the Giants when he failed to get a hit in his first 25 times at bat.

Is it possible he might be slowing up a little? "I'm doing things as well as I ever did," said the centerfielder. "I know better than anyone that I'm not as young as I used to be, but experience has helped make up the difference."

Junior Editors Quiz on
SENSES

QUESTION: Which is keenest — a dog's sense of smell or his hearing?

ANSWER: This is a difficult question to answer exactly, because a dog's sense of smell is extremely keen and so is his hearing. It is said that a dog can pick up an odor fainter by a million times than one detected by a human nose. And although human hearing can pick up sounds which vibrate up to 20,000 times a second, the dog can hear sounds at frequencies of 30,000 times a second. Some dogs can hear sounds 250 yards away that humans can only detect at 25 yards. In large dogs with their big muzzles, smell is keener than in the smaller ones. We all know the special ability of the bloodhound to follow one individual track of odor, even if criss-crossed by many others.

It is said, however, that smell is the most important guide animals have. They use it the way we use sight. Smell helps dogs hunt. Since dogs came from hunting stock—and all dogs are really hunters at heart, it is probably true that on the average their sense of smell is keener and more important than their hearing, wonderfully sharp though that may be.

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch a dog sniff at a scent the way the Irish setter is doing in our picture. Why does he sniff? To drive out other odors in his nose cavity and force in new fresh nosefuls of the fascinating scent he's just picked up, the source of which he's going to investigate—on the double.

Janie Beth Laborde of Gainesville, Tex., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Know School Principal

Often I have wished that in my earlier experience in the field of public education I had aspired to and been especially trained for the position of elementary school principal. There is no other school position with such great possibilities for doing effective educational service, it seems to me. Parents Dr. Garry Meyers of the younger child like to confer with the school principal and careful observers agree that the most effective teaching of the whole child as a person and member of a family can be done and usually is being done in the elementary school.

IN THE INTEREST of what is supposed to be economy, a very unfortunate practice of having one principal in charge of two or more schools has been developing throughout the nation during the past few decades. From the angle of mere machinery of administration this plan appears good on the surface. Moreover, much may be said for the plan when each elementary school has only six or eight teachers. But many of the schools that share one principal with two or three others have twenty, thirty or more teachers. Suppose you are the parent of a child in the first, third or fifth grade in one of these schools and you wished to talk with the principal about your child but could find this principal in your school only occasionally and then only by appointment. Suppose as you walked into the principal's office unannounced you found only a clerk there. How would you feel?

ANYWAY, HOW can a principal with his time distributed among several schools know much about each child and his parents as persons? While our modern educational philosophy has sung to the tune of knowing children better and better as individual persons and of treating them as such, this movement goes against that philosophy. And how are teachers to be inspired to gain a closer touch with each child as a person in all his relationships without a principal there to encourage them to do so? Under the most favorable set-up most parents don't confer with the school principal often enough, though a few "nervous" mothers become pests in going to see the principal too often. Aim to know your principal. Try to ascertain her philosophy and objectives for all the children. Try not to be so selfish as to be interested only in your own child. Go to see the principal when you don't wish to register a complaint or to seek help concerning your child, as well as when you do wish so. Be generous with approval over the many good things going on at school.

WHEN YOU wish to discuss your child's problems with the principal, don't, as a rule, take the child with you. Nothing can be worse than for him to hear his faults aired. After the matter has been carefully discussed, there may be times when the child should be called into the discussion in the presence of both the parent and principal. My bulletin, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School", may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

5 In Cleveland Are Arrested On Narcotics Count

CLEVELAND (AP)—Narcotics charges have been filed against five persons arrested at what police called a marijuana party in a rooming house. Five others arrested early Sunday at the rooming house in the University Circle area were freed Monday after posting $200 personal bond as material witnesses. Two others were released. Police confiscated 13 packets of crude marijuana and one vial of powdered marijuana in a third-floor room rented by a Harvard University student, Timothy Dotson, 22. Dotson was one of those charged with possession of narcotics, along with Harold Hills, 21, of Cleveland, a clerk; William Linhard, 20, a musician; and Joanna Misnik, 19, of Brooklyn Heights, a student at Western Reserve University. Accused of supplying the marijuana for the party was John L. Kramel, 20, a Kent State University student. Police in Kent said Monday they found five pounds of marijuana worth about $350 in Kramel's home. They arrested Kramel's wife, Regina, 20, also a Kent student. She was held in Portage County Jail under $2,000 bond following an arraignment on a narcotics possession charge.

Murder Charge Starts Search For Suspect

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A first-degree murder charge filed Monday sent Allen County authorities in search of Albert Reid, 42, of Bluffton shortly after he had been freed on $5,000 bond on a lesser charge. He remained at large early today. Reid posted the bond on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, filed when Robert Bensman, 31, of Toledo lay wounded in Lima Memorial Hospital. Bensman died Saturday night. He was shot Aug. 5.

Funeral Services Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services are scheduled here Wednesday for Frank R. (Dick) House, publisher and editor of the Ohio Labor Review, who died Sunday at 76. He lived in nearby Grove City.

$350,000 Damage Suit Cites 7 In School Bombing

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A new sequence has begun in the tragedy of Kettering Fairmont High School's 1963 Commencement Day. Mark F. Wilkus, 15, suffered permanent disability May 30 when an aerial bomb, launched just as he bent over to examine the rocket apparatus, blasted him in the face and head. Seven other youths, 18-year-olds who graduated that day, were named by Mark's father, Robert, in a $350,000 damage suit Monday in Montgomery County Common Pleas Court. Three already were awaiting action in Kettering Municipal Court on police charges. Members of a rocket club, they are accused of planting the missile that injured Mark. They allegedly set the bomb to go off in a nearby field while outdoor commencement exercises were in progress. The defendants are Charles T. Graham, Donald L. Calihan, William Malone, Paul Berdahl, Timothy F. Johnson, William Carl Weist and John E. Keto. Graham, Calihan and Malone are those previously charged by police with illegally setting off fireworks.

Thousands See Fireworks Ending Wellsville's Festival

Thousands of spectators turned out for the big fireworks display at Central Park in Wellsville Saturday night, climaxing the annual St. Rocco celebration of Knights of Columbus Council 507. Council officers said the crowd was the largest ever, with an estimated 12,000 to 15,000 spectators on hand for the spectacular display put on by Zambelli Fireworks Co. of New Castle. The display had a Civil War flavor, featuring set pieces of soldiers and cannon. The grand finale included hundreds of multi-colored shell rockets that gave ear-splitting blasts and sprayed the skies with flaming sparks. Council officers commented that "the crowds were the largest, the fireworks the best, and the carnival highly successful." Thousands jammed Central Park for the fireworks display and the crowds spilled over into parking lots of two nearby pottery firms. Others watched from high vantage points along old Salineville Road and Buckeye Ave. Wellsville Police were on the job directing traffic until 1:30 a. m. There were no major snarls and no accidents reported. The festival, in honor of the patron saint of the Italian people, concluded with Solemn High Mass Sunday morning at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. Fr. Gerald X. Curran was celebrant, Fr. Joseph Bennett of St. Aloysius Church of East Liverpool was deacon and William M.

Crumbly of Wellsville was seminaryman. The council has selected Aug. 3-9 as tentative dates for the 1964 St. Rocco celebration. Woman Honored At Stork Shower In Highlandtown SALINEVILLE — Mrs. Carol Ann Pisarsky was honored with a pink and blue shower Friday night by Mrs. Arthur Roberts and her mother, Mrs. Alice Pierson of Salineville, at the Roberts home near Highlandtown. Twelve attended. Gifts were arranged in a bassinet. Games and contests were featured, with prizes going to Mrs. Martha Boyd, Miss Gretta Gay Mundy and Mrs. Pisarsky, all of Salineville. Lunch was served by Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Pierson and Mrs. Boyd. Mrs. Pisarsky is residing with her mother and family in Salineville. Her husband, Frank Pisarsky, is stationed in South Carolina with the Army. GI Closes Course EAST PALESTINE — Pvt. James L. Wessel, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wessel of R.
